Many scientists agree that climate change is one of the biggest challenges facing our planet. Weather patterns are becoming more extreme, with more floods, stronger storms, and longer periods of drought. One major cause of these changes is greenhouse gases, especially carbon dioxide, which trap heat in the atmosphere. If these emissions do not decrease in the next decades, the Earth will become even warmer. However, there is hope. Countries around the world are investing in renewable energy, such as solar and wind power, to reduce pollution and protect the planet for future generations.
