Moving to a new country can be one of the most challenging experiences in a person's life. At first, everything feels unfamiliar: the language, the culture, and even daily routines. Many students find it stressful to communicate, especially when they don't understand the new language well. However, these challenges can also help them grow. Over time, they become more independent, confident, and able to deal with difficult situations. While the experience is not easy, it often has a positive long-term influence on a person's character.

(WRITING – Opinion Essay) القسم الرابع: الكتابة

اكتب فقرة (٦-٨ جمل) حول:

“Do you think family has a strong influence on a person’s personality?”

★ نموذج إجابة:

I believe that family has a very strong influence on a person’s personality. From a young age, children learn how to behave by watching their parents and siblings. For example, children who grow up in a calm home usually learn how to solve problems peacefully. On the other hand, those who grow up around arguments may lose their temper more easily. Family also influences our values, such as honesty and respect. Although friends and school also have an effect, I think the family is the most important influence because it shapes us from the beginning of our lives.
