The internet

The internet is one of the most important things in our life . And that actually because of many reasons . Firstly it connected the world and made it as a small village , For example you can talk to your friend in America from the UAE however that was impossible in the past . Secondly it is a source that you can get information from about any subject . Thirdly it is a way that you can spend your time , by searching for news or talking with friends . In conclusion I think that internet is an important thing in our life

Raising money for a good cause

Our school is holding a book sale on Saturday to help raise money for children in Somalia. The pupils hope to collect as much money as possible. A group of businessmen promised to donate the same amount of money that we raise; so that we can double the total amount. We are so interested because this is what we learned from our great leaders. We have a fantastic selection of books on sale. We are also really happy that we will get the same amount from local businessmen.

free time activities

There are two kinds of free time activities, indoor activities and outdoor activities. Indoor activities like reading drawing, writing playing the piano and playing computer games. Outdoor activities, like motor racing, horse riding, fishing, and football, skiing and swimming.

There are some disadvantages for not practicing free time activities we feel depressed. Also we feel that we are isolated. We don't learn much about the world around us and we don't learn how to deal with others. Some people who don't practice any activities, they usually smoke or spend their time in bad things. I advise all my friends to practice free time activities suitable for their needs and abilities to be a part in their societies. In my opinion free time activities have many advantages. The main advantages of free time activities are that we spend our time away from bad habits like smoking. We enjoy our time and refresh our minds.

They are very important for our health and souls. We learn how to work in a team and we learn co-operation. For example when I go out in a journey with my friends to the desert for camping, we learn to be dependent. Some of us carry the things for the camp, some make food, some of us prepare the tent and others clean the place. Free time activities enrich our hobbies and enlarge our thinking

The weather in UAE

In summer the weather is hot, the sun is clear in the sky, some animals hide during the day and come out at night to search for food. In autumn the leaves fall from most plants and trees, their color changes to yellow or red, the winds blow stronger in this season. In winter the weather is cold, the snow falls in some places and it rains on other places, the night is longer than daytime in this season. In spring the weather is so beautiful, the flowers blossom and the trees are green with flowers and fruits, the animals move freely everywhere, and most of them mate in this season, people also enjoy picnics and going out in this season.

Energy

Energy in our lives are divided into two sections, namely
Nonrenewable energy : - get it out of the ground fuels such as fuel, and the advantages of this type of energy burned easily, and easy to transport and power generation, operation and different means of transport, and shortcomings of this kind of energy to cause global warming, and the formation of acid rain, and prices and availability is linked to the political situation

Renewable energy (alternative energy or clean) : - we receive from nature such as solar, wind, tides, and the advantages of this kind of energy that renewable source of energy is free and not be the end, available in most parts of the world, reducing the proportion of environmental pollution and the mitigation of global warming, lead to the development of environmentally, socially, industrially and agriculturally in the world, using techniques of simple and manufactured locally in developing countries

How can we save energy

There are different forms of energy. Most of the energy used today in homes and industry comes from fossil fuels. Coal, oil and natural gas are all fossil fuels. They are called non-renewable because it takes millions of years to make or renew them. So, we must reduce the amount of non-renewable fuels that we use.

We need to find other forms of energy that will never out . These forms of energy are called renewable. Examples of these are energy from the sun and the wind. Water is another renewable source of energy. It is called hydroelectric power. Nuclear energy is also a clean renewable source of energy. However, it is dangerous. It is important that we all save energy
