

READING(12 marks)*Reading comprehension*Q1 Read the following text and answer the following questions:

When people talk about the most important developments of civilization, they usually mention writing. Thousands of years pass, and writing moves from drawings to hieroglyphics and then alphabets. As written language develops, people realize they can communicate with other people further away. They want to send letters. But if you want to send a letter, you should use a postal service. The earliest example of a postal service comes from ancient Egypt – a clay letter nearly 4,000 years old. The first government postal service began in China about 3,000 years ago, but people still needed something suitable to write on. Then, 2,500 years ago, the Egyptians discovered a light, portable writing material: papyrus.
