Introduction

Aim High is a six-level English language course. The development of Aim High was informed by research in schools – observing lessons and talking to teachers and students. The information we gathered has given us valuable insights into what students and teachers want from a coursebook, and these became the guiding principles for Aim High. Most people asked for:

- a challenging input of active and passive vocabulary
- a strong focus on reading and writing skills
- rapid progression in the grammar syllabus
- plenty of support for skills work, especially writing
- a focus on dealing with idiomatic English and dictionary skills
- serious but motivating topics
- plenty of extra practice material.

Aim High has a very clear unit structure, which has been designed to enable teachers to take students from input (reading) to output (writing). In addition, in order to support the challenging grammar and vocabulary input, we have provided a reference section and extra practice in the Student's Book. While teachers need to ensure that students adequately cover the required grammar syllabus, equal importance needs to be given to the communicative aspects of English.

The components of the course

Student's Book

The Student's Book contains:

- seven topic-based units
- a Dictionary Corner section in each unit to promote dictionary skills and learner autonomy
- I can statements at the end of each unit to encourage conscious learner development
- seven Grammar Reference and Builder sections, containing clear grammar explanations and further exercises for each unit
- tip boxes giving advice on specific skills and how best to approach different task types in all four main skills
- a Wordlist providing a lexical summary of the active and passive vocabulary of each unit with a phonetic guide for pronunciation. The Oxford 3000™ key symbol in the Wordlist indicates the most useful words for students to learn
- an irregular verbs list.

Workbook

The Workbook mirrors and reinforces the content of the Student's Book. It offers:

- further practice to reflect the sections of material taught in class
- Challenge! exercises to engage more able students
- writing guides to provide a clear structural framework for writing tasks, and a Writing Bank for reference
- regular Self check sections for students to develop an awareness of their progress
- a Vocabulary Notebook listing the vocabulary from the Student's Book in alphabetical order, with space for students to make their own notes.

Teacher's Book

The Teacher's Book gives complete teaching notes for the whole course, including ideas for tackling mixed-ability classes. In addition, it offers:

- background information, optional activities and answer keys
- seven photocopiable end-of-unit tests
- the Workbook answer key.

Audio CDs

The audio CDs contain all the listening material from the Student's Book.

A tour of the Student's Book

There are seven main units in the Student's Book. Each unit has seven sections. Every lesson has a cross reference to the relevant page in the Workbook for extra practice.

Reading

- This contains the main reading text and introduces the theme of the unit.
- In addition to a Before Reading activity to get students thinking about the topic, a Reading tip develops their reading strategies.
- The reading texts are recorded so that students can listen to the text as they read.
- Important new vocabulary is highlighted in the text and practised in a follow-up activity and in the Workbook.
- The text contains instances of the main grammar point(s) of the unit.

Vocabulary

- The Activate section recycles the vocabulary from the reading page in a different context to check understanding.
- The Extend section introduces new lexical sets related to the topic and focuses on aspects of vocabulary such as word-building, collocation and phrasal verbs.
- All the target vocabulary from the unit is highlighted in bold in the Wordlist at the back of the Student's Book.

Grammar

- There are two sections of grammar per unit, introducing one main grammar structure in two stages. Alternatively, the second grammar focus may be a different, but related, structure.
- The grammar structures are presented in a short text or other meaningful context.
- Learn this! boxes and grammar tables help students to work out the grammar rules, and further explanation and examples can be found in the Grammar Reference section at the back of the Student's Book.
- Look out! boxes draw attention to minor grammar points, and help students to avoid common errors.
- As well as the exercises in the units, there is further practice in the Grammar Builder section.

Skills

- This section focuses on listening and speaking skills.
- The topic of the listening comprehension is introduced by more vocabulary input and practice.
- The tapescript can be found in the teaching notes.
- The listening comprehension activities are followed by speaking practice.

Writing

- This section begins with a model text or texts exemplifying the writing function and format.
- Students study a Writing tip and practise useful phrases.
- There is a clear writing guide for the students to produce their own text.

Review, Dictionary Corner and I can statements

- This section, which concludes the unit, offers revision and extension.
- The review activities recycle the grammar and vocabulary from the unit in a dialogue and other exercises.
- The Dictionary Corner activities are designed to help students become familiar with using an English–English dictionary. We recommend Oxford Student's Dictionary. However, the exercises can be done with any dictionary. Being able to use a monolingual dictionary independently will equip students with important skills for autonomous learning.
- Students can also be encouraged to become more autonomous learners by reviewing their learning outcomes at the end of the unit. The learning outcomes are expressed as I can statements which focus on skills rather than grammatical or lexical items. Students decide which skills they found difficult or easy, and, as a result, decide what their learning objectives should be. The students are then referred to the Self check pages in the Workbook.

Testing and assessment

Aim High provides a variety of resources for teacher-made tests and for students' self-assessment:

- I can statements at the end of each unit in the Student's Book
- Self check sections at the end of each unit in the Workbook
- unit tests covering vocabulary, reading, grammar, language skills and writing in the Teacher's Book (see pages 70–83).

The Common European Framework of Reference

Aim High has been designed to be compatible with the learning objectives of the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR). The CEFR is a description of linguistic competence at six levels: A1, A2, B1, B2, C1 and C2. Aim High matches the CEFR levels as follows:

Aim High 1 and 2: A2

Aim High 3 and 4: B1 / B2

Aim High 5 and 6: B2 / C1

Each level is divided into five skill areas – speaking, reading, listening, conversation and writing. Each skill has a number of descriptors that explain what a student can do with the language. The descriptors are often represented as I can statements, for example:

A2 Writing: I can write a simple personal letter, for example, thanking someone for something.

The descriptors are written to help both learners and educational professionals to standardize assessment. Use the I can statements at the end of each unit and the Self check pages in the Workbook to encourage students to assess their own ability.

Tips and ideas

Teaching reading

Predicting content

Before reading the text, ask students to look at the pictures and tell you what they can see or what is happening. You can also discuss the title and topic with them.

Dealing with difficult vocabulary

Here are some ideas:

- pre-teach vocabulary. Anticipate which words students may have difficulty with. Put them on the board before you read the text with the class and explain them. You can combine this with a prediction activity by putting a list of words on the board and asking students to guess which ones will not appear in the text
- having read through the text once, tell students to write down three or four words from the text that they don't understand. Ask them to call out the words. You can then explain them
- rather than immediately explaining difficult vocabulary, ask students to identify the part of speech of the word they don't know. Knowing the part of speech sometimes helps them to work out the meaning
- after working on a text, ask students to choose four or five new words from the text that they would like to learn and to write these in the Vocabulary Notebook section of the Workbook.

Teaching vocabulary

Vocabulary Notebooks

Encourage your students to record new words in the Vocabulary Notebook at the back of their Workbooks. You could suggest that they write an example sentence that shows the word in context, or they may find it easier to learn words by noting synonyms or antonyms.

Vocabulary doesn't appear just on Vocabulary pages. You can ask students to make a list of all the verbs that appear in a Grammar section, or to choose five useful words from a reading text and learn them.

Learning phrases

We often learn words in isolation, but a vocabulary item can be more than one word, e.g. make a mistake, do your best, have a shower, go swimming. Make students aware of this and encourage them to record phrases as well as individual words.

Revision

Regularly revise previously learnt sets of vocabulary. Here are two games you could try in class:

- Odd one out. Give four words, either orally or written on the board. Students say which is the odd one out. You can choose three words from one vocabulary set and one word from a different set (a relatively easy task) or four words from the same set, e.g. kind, confident, rude, friendly, where rude is the odd one out as it's the only word with negative connotations.
- Word building. This game can be played to revise words and their derivatives. Call out a word, and nominate a student to give a derivative of the word. Then invite other students in the class to contribute to the list. For example, danger: dangerous, dangerously; happy: unhappy, happiness, happily. You can do the same for phrasal verbs (by asking for verb phrases using go, get, up, on, etc.) and idioms (by asking for idioms related to colours, parts of the body, etc.).

Teaching grammar

Concept checking

The concept is important. Do not rush from the presentation to the practice before the students have fully absorbed the meaning of the new structure. Here are some things you can do to check that they truly understand a new structure:

- talk about the practice activities as you do them, asking students to explain their answers
- look beyond incorrect answers: they may be careless errors or they may be the result of a misunderstanding
- contrast new structures with forms that they already know in English and in their own language.

Practice

Practice makes perfect. Learning a new structure is not easy, and students need plenty of practice and revision. Use the extra activities in the Grammar Builder section at the back of the Student's Book and in the Workbook.

Teaching listening

Pre-listening

This is an important stage. Listening to something 'cold' is not easy, so prepare the students adequately. Focus on teaching rather than on testing. Here are some things you can do:

- tell the students in broad terms what they are going to hear (e.g. two people talking on the phone)
- predict the content. If there's a picture, ask students to look at it and tell you what they can see or what is happening
- pre-teach key vocabulary
- read through the accompanying exercise carefully and slowly before the students listen. Ensure that the students understand both the task and all the vocabulary in the exercise.

Familiar procedure

It isn't easy to listen, read the exercise and write the answers all at the same time. Take some pressure off the students by telling them you'll play the recording a number of times, and that they shouldn't worry if they don't get the answers immediately. Tell students not to write anything the first time they listen.

Monitor

While the students are listening, stand at the back of the class and check that they can all hear.

Teaching writing

Use a model

Ensure that the students understand that the text in the writing section serves as a model for their own writing.

Preparation

Encourage the students to brainstorm ideas and make notes, either alone or in groups, before they attempt to write a composition.

Draft

Tell them to prepare a rough draft of the composition before they write out the final version.

Checking

Encourage them to read through their composition carefully and to check it for spelling mistakes and grammatical errors.

Correction

Establish a set of marks that you use to correct students' written work. For example:

- sp indicates a spelling mistake
- wm indicates a word missing
- gr indicates a grammatical error
- v indicates a lexical error
- wo indicates incorrect word order

Self correction

Consider underlining but not correcting mistakes, and asking students to try to correct them.

Teaching speaking

Confidence building

Be aware that speaking is a challenge for many students. Build their confidence and they will speak more; undermine it and they will be silent. This means:

- encourage and praise your students when they speak
- do not over-correct or interrupt
- ask other students to be quiet and attentive while a classmate speaks
- listen and react when a student speaks, with phrases like Really? or That's interesting.

Preparation

Allow students time to prepare their ideas before asking them to speak. This means they will not have to search for ideas at the same time as trying to express them.

Support

Help students to prepare their ideas. Make suggestions and provide useful words. Allow them to work in pairs, if appropriate.

Choral drilling

'Listen and repeat' activities, which the class does together, can help to build confidence because the students feel less exposed. They are also a good chance to practise word stress and intonation.

Teaching mixed-ability classes

Teaching mixed-ability classes is demanding and can be very frustrating. There are no easy solutions, but here are some ideas that may help.

Preparation

Try to anticipate problems and prepare in advance. Draw up a list of the five strongest students in the class and the five weakest. Think about how they will cope in the next lesson. Which group is likely to pose more of a problem – the stronger students because they'll finish quickly and get bored, or the slower students because they won't be able to keep up? Think about how you will attempt to deal with this. The Teacher's Book includes ideas and suggestions for activities that can be used for revision with weaker students, or as an extension for more able students.

Independent learning

There is the temptation in class to give most of your attention to the higher-level students, as they are more responsive and they keep the lesson moving. But which of your students can best work on their own or in pairs? It's often the stronger ones, so consider spending more time in class with the weaker ones, and finding things to keep the fast-finishers occupied while the others catch up.

Peer support

If you are doing pairwork, consider pairing stronger students with weaker students. Putting students in pairs for writing activities can be a great advantage for weaker students.

Project work

Provide ongoing work for stronger students. You can give your stronger students extended tasks that they do alone in spare moments. For example, you could give them readers, ask them to keep a diary in English or work on a project. They can turn to these whenever they are waiting for the rest of the class to finish an activity.

Correcting mistakes

How much we correct should depend on the purpose of the activity. The key question is: is the activity designed to improve accuracy or fluency?

Accuracy

With controlled grammar and vocabulary activities, where the emphasis is on the accurate production of a particular language point, it's best to correct all mistakes, and to do so immediately you hear them. You want your students to master the forms now and not repeat the mistake in later work.

Fluency

With activities such as role play or freer grammar exercises, it may be better not to interrupt and correct every mistake you hear. The important mistakes to correct in these cases are those that cause a breakdown in communication. We shouldn't show interest only in the language; we should also be asking ourselves: How well did the students communicate their ideas? During the activity, you can make a note of any serious grammatical and lexical errors and put them on the board at the end of the activity. You can then go through them with the whole class.

Self correction

Give students a chance to correct themselves before you supply the correct version.

Modelling

When you correct an individual student, always ask him or her to repeat the answer after you correctly.

Peer correction

You can involve the rest of the class in the process of correction. Ask: Is that answer correct? You can do this when the student has given a correct answer as well as when the answer is incorrect.

This unit includes

Vocabulary: technology • research • education • phrasal verbs

Grammar: present tense contrast • talking about the past and the present

Skills: discussing teenagers' habits • talking about using the internet at home and at school

Writing: an opinion essay

Workbook pages 2–9

Reading PAGES 4–5Warm-up

- Look at the unit title and ask students: Where can you find a 'virtual world'?
- Read the title of the reading page, Making the internet work for you. Ask students: What can people do online?

Before Reading

- Students answer the questions in pairs. Discuss the questions as a class.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Background Notes

The internet is a global system of international computer networks that carries a wide range of information resources and has the infrastructure to support electronic mail. Its origins go back to the 1960s when the US military started doing research into computer networks. This resulted in worldwide participation in the development of new networking technologies and led to the commercialization of an international network in the mid 1990s. An estimated third of the Earth's population are internet users.

ReadExercise 1

- Students read the text quickly and match the titles with the paragraphs. Say: You only need to understand the general sense of the text to do this exercise. Remind students that there is one extra title.
- Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 E 2 D 3 F 4 B 5 A

Teaching Tip: Reading with the audio CD

Playing the audio CD as students read will help them to focus on the text and read without stopping when they come across unknown vocabulary. This encourages them to work out the meaning of new words when they hear them in context. The CD also provides a pronunciation model for new vocabulary.

Exercise 2  1.02

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check that they have understood by asking: How should you approach multiple-choice questions? [1 Read the question. 2 Read the paragraph and answer the question. 3 Read the choices. 4 Eliminate the wrong answers]
- Play the CD while students read the text a second time and choose the best answers, finding the relevant lines in the text. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 b 3 d 4 a 5 a 6 d

Optional Activity: Reading skills

Aim: To focus on the first and last sentences of paragraphs.

Preparation: Write the following on the board.

First sentence

Last sentence

Explain that you are going to dictate the first and last sentences from the paragraphs in the reading text. Tell students they must say first sentence or last sentence after you have read each sentence.

Dictate the first and last sentences of each paragraph in a random order. Elicit the correct answers from individual students after you have read each sentence.

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in pairs.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Teaching Tip: Positive and negative

Write the heading THE INTERNET on the board. Draw two columns underneath with the headings POSITIVE and NEGATIVE. Put students in pairs and ask half the class to think of positive effects of the internet and the other half to think of negative effects. Write their ideas on the board. Then ask them to look at the text and see which of their ideas are mentioned.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

- Positive: Users can work with foreign colleagues; consult information in different countries; visit the libraries of global institutions; consult online encyclopaedias and dictionaries; consult specialized websites and online newspaper archives; buy products online; compare prices; share material; watch and listen to TV and radio stations; download podcasts. Businesses can advertise and sell online.
Negative: quality of material has declined; users have to read more to find the required information
- possibilities for fraud; access to pornography; unwanted advertising
- Students' own answers
- if the information is balanced and informative

Vocabulary

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text to the definitions. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 revolutionized 2 continually 3 criteria
4 recommendations 5 blogs 6 conventional 7 time-consuming 8 carry out 9 evolving
10 streamed 11 indispensable 12 browse
13 archives 14 diverse 15 fields

Teaching Tip: Vocabulary Notebook

Set up a system with the class for making notes in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks (see Workbook pages 58–69). Give students more information about the words from the text (see below) and tell them to make notes. Encourage them to use a monolingual dictionary to find definitions and example sentences. Also encourage them to make their example sentences personal and true, e.g.

indispensable: very important, impossible to be without archive is a noun which means a collection of historical documents.

blog is a noun which means a personal record that somebody puts on their website saying what they have been doing.

browse is a regular verb which means to look for and read information on a computer. The third person singular form is browses and the past simple form is browsed. The noun form is also browse.

carry out is a phrasal verb which means do a task. The third person singular form is carries out and the past simple form is carried out.

continually is an adverb which means happening all the time. The adjective is continual.

conventional is an adjective which describes something that is traditional and normal. The noun is convention and the adverb is conventionally.

criteria is a plural noun which means the standards that you use to make a decision. The singular form is criterion.

diverse is an adjective which describes things that are very different from each other. The noun form is diversity and the verb is diversify.

evolve is a regular verb which means to develop or to make something develop from a very simple form to a more advanced form. The noun form is evolution.

indispensable is an adjective which describes something that is very important and impossible to be without. The synonym of indispensable is essential and the opposite is dispensable.

recommendation is a noun which means a statement that something is good and should be tried. The verb form is recommend.

revolutionize is a regular verb which means to change something completely, usually improving it. The noun form is revolution and the adjective form is revolutionary.

stream is a regular verb which means to deliver over the internet. The third person singular form is streams and the past simple form is streamed.

time-consuming is a compound adjective which describes something that takes or needs a lot of time.

Quick Test: Two-minute test

Ask students to close their books. Tell them that in two minutes, you're going to give them short definitions of the words from the reading text. They have to write down the words very quickly. Dictate the first definition, and wait only five seconds before reading out the next. Continue with the rest of the definitions. When you finish, get students to compare their answers with a partner. Then check the answers together as a class.

something you should try [recommendation]

do a task [carry out]

taking a long time [time-consuming]

a collection of historical documents [archive] happening all the time [continually]

a personal diary on a website [blog] change something dramatically [revolutionize]

look for information on a website [browse] standards that help you make a decision [criteria] different from each other [diverse] develop [evolve]

traditional and normal [conventional] an area of study [field]

impossible to be without [indispensable] deliver over the internet [stream]

Optional Activity: Uses of the internet

Aim: To practise talking about the internet.

Preparation: Brainstorm possible uses of the internet with students and write their ideas on the board, e.g.

to research homework to consult information to post a blog

to find out train times

to shop online

Students discuss in pairs how they use the internet. Then, have a class feedback session where students tell the class about their partner.

Word formation: nouns: achievement acknowledgement combination dependence entertainment examination existence explanation insistence involvement management organization preference recommendation residence

Verb + noun collocations: agree with / accept recommendations carry out / perform a task carry out / do research compare / increase prices create / have an opportunity establish / meet criteria keep / write a blog watch / record a programme

Activate

- Focus on the words in the box and review their meaning by asking a few questions, e.g. What word can we use to describe something traditional? [conventional] What do we call an area of knowledge? [field]
- Students complete the sentences. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- archives, time-consuming
- blog, continually, recommendations
- revolutionized, evolving, streamed
- browse, criteria, carry out
- indispensable
- field
- conventional, diverse

Extend

Exercise 1 Education words

- Get students to check the meanings of the words in a dictionary.
- Read through the first sentence with students and then elicit the correct answer for the next gap.
- Students continue completing the text with the words. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- tasks
- cram
- marks
- sit
- enrol
- fees
- grant
- break up

Exercise 2 Word formation: nouns

- Focus on the example with students and show them on the board how to join the verb exist and the suffix -ence to make the noun existence.
- Students continue forming nouns from the verbs and suffixes to complete the table. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

-ence: existence, dependence, insistence, preference, residence
-ment: achievement, acknowledgement, entertainment, involvement, management
-ation: combination, examination, explanation, organization, recommendation

Teaching Tip: Nouns ending in the same suffix

Word formation is a valuable way of extending students' vocabulary. Divide students into three groups and allocate each group one of the verb suffixes: -ence, -ment, -ation. Give each group a piece of coloured card and get them to write the words from exercise 2 on their piece of card. Display the posters on the wall and tell students they must add new nouns with their suffix as they come across them.

Exercise 3

- Focus on the example with students and make sure they realize they should use the nouns from exercise 2.
- Students continue completing the sentences. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- preferences
- achievement
- residence
- explanation
- management
- acknowledgement
- involvement
- existence

Exercise 4 Verb + noun collocations

- Focus on the example. Ask students to explain why create is the wrong answer and the other verbs are right. [create does not collocate with a task, whereas carry out and perform do]
- Students complete the exercise individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- create
- catch
- sell
- do
- give
- make
- take
- look

Quick Test: Hot seat

Put a chair in front of the board facing the class. Ask one volunteer to come and sit on the chair. Write a word from the list below on the board and get students to define the word for the student sitting on the chair. If the student guesses the answer correctly, choose a different student to come to the front. If they can't guess the word, tell them the answer and write up a different word for students to define.

achievement	evolve
archive	explanation
browse	fees
carry out a task	have an opportunity
compare prices	marks
cram	recommendation
dependence	residence
diverse	revolutionize
enrol	stream
establish criteria	time-consuming

Vocabulary Notebooks

Remind students to make notes on new vocabulary in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks.

Present tense contrast

Warm-up

- Focus on the heading and ask students: Can you name four present tenses? [present simple, present continuous, present perfect and present perfect continuous]

Explore

Exercise 1

- Students look at the title of the text. Elicit examples of unwanted emails from students and write their ideas on the board, e.g. adverts, marketing, chain mails.
- Students read the text and add any extra ideas to the list.
- Focus on the first phrase in blue and elicit the name of the tense. [present perfect continuous] Continue with the other phrases in blue.

ANSWERS

- present perfect continuous
- present simple
- present perfect
- present continuous

Teaching Tip: for and since

Remind students that we often use for and since with the present perfect and present perfect continuous to talk about the duration of an activity. We use for with a period of time and since with a point in time.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students and elicit the names of the tenses. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- perfect
- simple
- continuous
- perfect continuous

Exercise 3

- Focus on the first tense (present perfect) and elicit an example from the text. [you have ever given]
- Students continue finding examples in the text. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

present perfect simple: have ever given, have created present simple: find, are, get present continuous: are travelling, is ... going down present perfect continuous: have been trying

Exploit

Exercise 1

- Students work individually or in pairs. Remind them to check the uses in exercise 2. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- has been trying
- works
- are increasing
- are living
- 've had
- has finished
- is getting
- Do you always stay

Exercise 2

- Focus on the title and ask: What is phishing? Get students to read the text to find the answer. [a type of internet fraud]
- Focus on the example and elicit from students why have become is the right answer.
- Students continue working individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- have become
- have been working
- looks
- is updating
- send
- have sent
- are increasing

Exercise 3

- Read through the example with students. Elicit a sample answer from individual students and then get all students to write their answer to the first question.
- Students continue working individually. Monitor and help. Ask a few students to read out their answers.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

- They're building a lot of new houses on the outskirts of my village.
- I've met a new friend who likes the same books as me.
- I've been looking forward to the weekend.
- I'm reading a really good book.
- I've read the news about the floods in Asia.

Quick Test: Dictation

First read the whole text to the class and ask them to listen.

Frank has been working as a software engineer for five years now. He designs programs for multinational companies worldwide. At the moment he's working on a new accounting system for an American firm. He's finished the design and now he's testing the program.

Read the text again, repeating each phrase twice and pausing to allow students to write down the text. Then read the whole text again for students to listen and check. Finally, elicit the sentences and write the text on the board for students to check their answer.

Background Notes

Virtual learning is a recent development in education. Classes can 'visit' interesting locations without leaving the classroom by using interactive computer programs.

Exercise 1 1.03

- Play the CD once for students to answer the questions.

SAMPLE ANSWER

'Virtual learning' allows students to visit interesting places through the computer. The students visited a science centre.

TAPESCRIPT

Mike Hello. Tonight we're going to hear about a trend that is becoming more popular in schools around the world, virtual learning. With us is Dr. Steve Martin, Director of New World Schools. Dr. Martin, could you explain to our listeners what virtual learning is?

Steve Thank you, Mike. Basically, virtual learning makes use of computer software to go on school trips without leaving the classroom! By using interactive computer programs, students can visit all kinds of interesting places such as science centres or laboratories. Virtual learning is much less expensive and time-consuming than actual school trips.

Mike Interesting. But how does a teacher choose which places to visit through the computer?

Steve Well, at New World Schools, we have developed a set of criteria. First of all, the experience must be relevant to the students. It must be linked to their studies and appropriate for their age. We also look at what the students will actually achieve. Will they learn new skills? Will they gain a lot of knowledge? Next, we consider how involved the students will be. If the students aren't involved, they won't pay attention.

Mike So you look for interactive experiences?

Steve Yes, interactive is very important. Students should complete a variety of tasks. This kind of exercise lets students get more involved than conventional classroom activities, so it is more interesting. For example, the science centre the students visited last week allowed them to be part of a study. They reported what they found out about the weather and the scientists recorded it to see if they can make better weather forecasts.

Mike OK, so I understand how you choose the virtual learning opportunities for the students ... you choose experiences that contain interactive tasks to keep them involved. But what do your teachers think about this? Do they worry about being replaced by computers?

Steve Oh, no... our teachers are indispensable. They direct the virtual learning experiences. They organize the lessons deciding how students will participate and what they must do. Teachers are absolutely indispensable. Virtual learning couldn't be possible without them.

Mike Finally, would you recommend virtual learning to other schools?

Steve Absolutely! After the success of our virtual visit to the science centre, I'd recommend virtual learning to both teachers and students.

Exercise 2 1.03

- Play the CD again for students to complete the notes.

ANSWERS

1 time-consuming 2 criteria 3 achieve 4 tasks
5 conventional 6 involved 7 find out 8 indispensable
9 organize 10 recommend

Teaching Tip: listening for the words

If you think your students will find this exercise difficult, write all the answers on the board, but not in the correct order. Read the words to the students to give them the opportunity to hear how they are pronounced. Then ask the students to listen for those words on the recording. This will allow them to practise their listening skill. Correct the answers. When they have finished, elicit the meaning of any words they find difficult, asking students to focus on the context the words are used in. Finally, play the CD again.

Exercise 3

- Students discuss the questions in pairs before discussing them with the class.

Speak

- Students ask and answer the questions in pairs.

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise using technology phrasal verbs.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A What do you do when you've finished with your computer?

A Right.

B What do you do when the battery on your phone is dead?

B Right.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting their own ideas.

Exercise 1 1.04

- Play the CD once for students to read, listen and answer the question. Check the answer.

ANSWER

The ancient Greeks said people wouldn't remember things if they wrote them down.

Exercise 2

- Elicit one example of the present perfect and past simple. Students continue working individually or in pairs to find the other examples. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

Present perfect: have you finished, has been criticized (passive)

Past simple: wrote, started, said, became, talked

Teaching Tip: Regular and irregular verbs

Remind students that we form the past simple and past participle forms of regular verbs by adding -ed to the infinitive. Remind them that irregular verbs have irregular past simple and past participle forms. Tell them they can find these irregular forms on page 80 of the Student's Book.

Exercise 3

- Focus on the first use and elicit the correct tense. [past simple]
- Students continue completing the rules in the Learn this! box. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

We use the present perfect ...

2 to show how something in the past relates to the present

4 to show that an activity began in the past and continues up to the present

We use the past simple ...

1 to show that something began and was completed in the past

3 when we use time expressions in the past: e.g. yesterday, last week

Warm-up

- Focus on the title of the essay. Elicit that this is an essay where the writer is asked for his/her opinion.
- Discuss with the class ways in which the internet helps us learn.

Read

- Focus on the essay. Ask: What is the writer's opinion? Students read through the essay quickly to answer the question. [the writer thinks the internet helps us learn]
- Focus on the task. Students read the essay again and complete the sentences. Check the answers.

Teaching Tip: Making notes

Remind students that they should always make notes before writing an essay. Give them time to do this before they start writing and encourage them to hand in their plan.

Write

- Students read through the instructions. Make sure they understand what they are going to write.
- If the writing is done in class, circulate and monitor. If you notice common errors, write them on the board and ask the class to correct them.
- Ask students to check each other's writing. Has all the information been included? Are there any errors? After peer correction, students write a second draft and hand it in.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Most households in my country have a computer these days, and in my opinion this is a good thing. Computers can make our lives easier in many ways.

The most obvious way in which computers can be used is for information. Computers can also help with the running of the house. People who have no free time can order goods on the internet without having to wait in long queues at the supermarket. Moreover, some products are only available if you have a computer at home, for instance low-cost holidays. In conclusion, in my view all households should have a computer. Computers help us save both time and money.

bio- /'baɪəʊ/ prefix (in nouns, adjectives and adverbs) connected with living things or human life: biology ◊ biodegradable

- Students look up the prefix bio- in their dictionary.
- Focus on the dictionary entry and elicit the following information:
 - bio- is a prefix.
 - bio- can be used in nouns, adjectives and adverbs.
 - bio- means connected with living things or human life.
 - Examples of words with the prefix bio- are biodegradable and biology.
- Focus on the example and show how the exercise definition matches the dictionary definition.
- Students continue working individually. Check the answers with the class.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 f 3 e 4 d 5 a 6 b

Exercise 2

- Check that students understand what a prefix is by completing the sentences.
- Elicit that a group of letters added to the end of a word is called a suffix, and that a suffix is used to change the grammatical form of a word, for example, weak (adj), weaken (verb).
- If students are using the Oxford Student's Dictionary, point out the blue reference pages in the middle of the dictionary. Ask students to turn to pages R40–43 for more information about prefixes and suffixes and for a list of common prefixes and suffixes in English.

Background Notes

Jeremy Curl is a British explorer, writer and photographer. He was born in 1982. In 2008 he became the youngest non-African to cross the Sahara desert without motorised transport – he travelled on foot and by camel. He chose to cross the dangerous Tanezrouft part of the desert. While travelling, he documented the difficult lifestyle of the Touareg tribes that live in the Sahara.

ReadExercise 1

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check that they have understood by asking: What do you need to do before you scan a text? [decide what you want to find]
- Focus on the first question. Ask students: Where do you expect to find the answer? [in the first paragraph]
- Give students a minute to scan the first paragraph to find the answer. Check the answer with students and ask them why the other three options are wrong.
- Students continue doing the task individually.
- Get students to compare answers and explain to each other why the other options are wrong. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- F (Curl was inspired by Wilfred Thesiger's books about crossing a desert in the Arabian Peninsula.)
- F (Thesiger crossed the Empty Quarter with the Bedouins.)
- T
- T
- F (At night, they worried about the war in Mali.)
- F (Thanks to Ouankilla and Ahmed, Curl arrived in Timbuktu.)

Optional Activity: Reading skills

Aim: To focus on paragraph order

Preparation: Write the following questions on the board. Ask the students to find which paragraph (2–6) each question relates to.

How long did the journey from Algeria to Timbuktu take? [6]

What did Curl buy before he began his journey? [3]

Why was Curl's journey more dangerous at night? [5]

Where do the Touareg live? [4]

How did Thesiger inspire Curl? [2]

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

- It might be more dangerous to travel without modern equipment. However, it is not sensible to rely too much on technology, either.
- He could have an accident, he could become ill from the heat or lack of water, he could be kidnapped, he could be the victim of violence connected with the war in Mali, etc.
- Travelling makes you see things from a different perspective. This can make you more tolerant.
- By watching documentaries, by researching information on the internet, by talking to immigrants in our own country.

Teaching Tip: Guessing predetermined answers

Write five possible answers to the second question in Understanding Ideas on pieces of card (see sample answers). Get students to read the question. Tell them they have to guess what you have written on the cards. Give them time to write down five possible answers in pairs. Then, choose individual students to give a possible answer. Continue until they have guessed all the answers on the cards.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Word families

Explain to students how important word formation is for extending their vocabulary. Encourage students to make a note of words in the same family when they come across new vocabulary, e.g.

inspire (v): My teacher inspired me to learn more about the history of my country.

inspiring (adj): I found this book very inspiring.

inspired (adj): Writing a diary of our journey was an inspired idea – now we have a great souvenir!

inspiration (n): My father's company was the inspiration for my new business.

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text to the definitions. Check the answers.

1 inhospitable 2 robe 3 nomadic 4 self-assured
5 willing 6 destination 7 oasis 8 preserve
9 documented 10 inspired 11 gadgets 12 dune
13 intrepid 14 thirst 15 proud

- Give students more information about the words from the text and ask them to make notes in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks (see Workbook pages 58–69).

destination is a noun which means a place to which somebody/something is going or being sent.

document is a verb which means to record the details of something. The noun is also document.

dune is a noun which means a small hill of sand near the sea or in a desert.

gadget is a noun meaning a small tool or device that does something useful. It is often used to refer to electronic devices.

inhospitable is an adjective which describes a place which is difficult for humans to stay or live in.

inspired is an adjective which you can use to describe a person who feels motivated to do something because of somebody or something else. It can also be used to describe an idea or thing that is clever. The verb is inspire and the noun is inspiration. There is also the related adjective inspiring.

intrepid is an adjective which describes a person, usually an explorer or traveller, who is very brave.

nomadic is an adjective which describes a person or tribe who do not live in one place but travel from place to place.

oasis is a noun which means a place in the desert where there is water. The plural is oases.

preserve is a verb meaning to protect or keep something in its original state. The noun is preservation.

proud is an adjective which means pleased with or respectful of something you are connected with. The noun is pride.

robe is a noun meaning a long item of clothing.

self-assured is a compound adjective which you can use to describe somebody who is confident. The noun is self-assurance.

thirst is a noun meaning the feeling you have when you need to drink something. The adjective is thirsty.

willing is an adjective which you can use to describe somebody who is pleased to carry out an action.

Quick Test: Password

Write the following letters on the board, to coincide with the first letter of the new words in the reading:

d g i n o p r s t w

Divide the class into four teams. Ask the following questions to the first team until they get a question wrong. Move to the next team, and ask the same questions again until they get one wrong. Continue until one team answers all the questions correctly. The students in this team are the winners.

Which D is at the end of a journey? [destination]

Which G is useful? [gadget]

Which I is hard to live in? [inhospitable]

Which N is always travelling? [nomadic]

Which O is a place to drink? [oasis]

Which P feels respectful? [proud]

Which R is something you wear? [robe]

Which S feels confident? [self-assured]

Which T needs a drink of water? [thirst]

Which W is happy to do this quiz? [willing]

Optional Activity: Explorers

Aim: To talk about Explorers.

Preparation: Elicit the names of famous explorers from students and write their ideas on the board, e.g. Magellan, Columbus, Ibn Battouta, Ahmed Ibn Fadlan.

Ask students to find out for homework as much as they can about one of the explorers on the list or a different explorer of their choice. In the next class, put students who have chosen the same explorer into a group to compare their information. Get each group to tell the class about their explorer.

TAPESCRIPT

P With me tonight is Mike Davies, our adventure sports correspondent, and he's here to tell us about one young man's incredible achievement. Sixteen-year old George Atkinson has just become the youngest person to climb the Seven Summits – the tallest mountains on each of the seven continents. Now Mike, if George is only sixteen now, just how young was he when he started climbing to the top of the world?

MD He was in fact eleven when he accompanied his father on a trip to the summit of Africa's tallest mountain, Mount Kilimanjaro.

P Only eleven!? What makes someone so young decide to start a climbing career?

MD Well, George's father is a big fan of climbing and he used to take his son on climbing trips in Britain and Ireland. George's first climbing experience was at the age of six, when they climbed to the top of Slieve Donard in Ireland, and he loved it. So when George had a bit more experience they decided to try something more challenging: Kilimanjaro!

P Wow! Was that when he decided to try and climb the Seven Summits?

MD No, actually, it wasn't. Although it's the fourth highest of the seven, from a climber's point of view, Kilimanjaro isn't very difficult. George and his dad decided that they wanted to try a mountain where they would have to do some real climbing and when George was thirteen they visited Europe's highest mountain, Mount Elbrus in Russia.

P So after climbing to the top of a really difficult mountain they then thought they could try to climb all of the Seven Summits.

MD Exactly. Their next trip was a year later to Papua New Guinea in Oceania. They had to spend two weeks travelling through the jungle before arriving at the foot of the Puncak Jaya mountain.

P It sounds like the climb was the easy part of the trip!

MD Well, it was for George but not for his father. He found the experience very difficult and they decided that George would climb the other mountains with a professional mountaineer, Ben Bradford.

P So which was the next continent that they visited?

MD They set off for Argentina in South America, to climb the 6,982 metre high Aconcagua mountain, the most difficult climb so far. That was soon followed by trips to North America to climb Mount Denali and then to Antarctica and the Vinson Massif mountain, where they spent four days trapped in a tent because of a snowstorm.

P That doesn't sound very pleasant, but all the hard work has paid off for George with his arrival at the top of Mount Everest, the tallest mountain in the world. Now before we continue with this story, ...

Exercise 2 1.08

- Play the CD again for students to answer the questions.

ANSWERS

1 He became the youngest person to climb the tallest mountains on all seven of the planet's continents.

2 He was eleven.

3 His father.

4 They climbed Kilimanjaro, but it wasn't very difficult. So they decided to climb a really difficult mountain.

5 They had to spend weeks travelling through the jungle before they arrived at the Puncak Jaya mountain.

6 George's father.

7 A professional climber who accompanied George after his father stopped climbing.

8 Because of a snowstorm.

Speak

- Students ask and answer the questions in pairs.

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise talking about exploring.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A Where would you most like to explore?

B I'd love to explore the Amazon Rainforest.

A Why?

B Because there are so many exotic flowers there.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting the other questions.

Past habits and situations

Warm-up

- Brainstorm equipment an explorer should take with him/her. Write students' ideas on the board.
- Have a class vote to find out which item students think is the most important.

Explore

Exercise 1

- Students answer the question in pairs.
- They read the text to check their answer.

ANSWER

The most important thing for survival is a good mentality.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students.
- Focus on the first verb: used to believe and ask: Is it a past habit or a past situation? [a past situation]
- Students continue finding the verbs and answering the question. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

past situation: used to believe past habits: would give, used to teach, often complained

Exercise 3

- Students try to answer the question in pairs. Check the answer.

ANSWERS

used to believe – because it's a past situation, not a past habit

Teaching Tip: Present habits

Students are often tempted to use used to to refer to present habits. Explain that used to always refers to the past. To refer to present habits we use the present simple with usually. When students make a mistake, use the prompt: Past or present? and ask them to repeat the sentence correctly.

Follow-up

Exploit

Exercise 1

- Focus on the example and elicit why would is wrong. [because the sentence refers to a past situation, not a past habit]
- Students continue finding the mistakes. Remind them to look at the rules in the Learn this! box. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- We used to have a bird but it died two years ago.
- Martin had an important meeting with his boss last week.
- Adam used to live in Amman when he worked in Jordan.
- My uncle used to be overweight but now he's lost six kilos.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Look out! box with students. Check understanding by asking: Which construction do we use for past habits and situations? [used to + infinitive] Which construction do we use for habits and situations we have become familiar with? [be used to + -ing]
- Focus on the example and elicit why the verb is in the infinitive form. [because the sentence refers to a past habit, so we need used to + infinitive]
- Students continue completing the sentences. Check the answers.

- go
- living
- working
- driving
- have
- writing

Exercise 3

- Write a sentence on the board about yourself for each question so that students have a model, e.g. I used to live in the UK, but now I live here. Now, I'm used to the hot weather.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Quick Test: Sentence transformation

Write the following sentences on the board. Give students time to rewrite the sentences using the word in brackets.

Ewan didn't eat vegetables when he was ten. (use)

[Ewan didn't use to eat vegetables when he was ten.]

Do you usually drink tea for breakfast? (are)

[Are you used to drinking tea for breakfast?]

When I was a baby, I cried a lot. (used)

[When I was a baby, I used to cry a lot.]

We went for long walks when we lived in the country. (would)

[We would go for long walks when we lived in the country.]

Gina usually gets up early. (used)

[Gina is used to getting up early.]

I'm hungry because I don't usually eat so late. (not)

[I'm hungry because I'm not used to eating so late.]

A narrative

Target Language

Sequencing words and expressions: after after that afterwards as soon as when while

Warm-up

- Focus on the photo. Elicit the topic of the narrative. [a climbing accident]

Read

Exercise 1

- Students read the text quickly and answer the question in pairs. Discuss their answers as a class.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

- Focus on the narrative and elicit the following information:
 - There are four paragraphs.
 - The style is formal, so we do not use short forms.
 - There is a mixture of longer and shorter sentences. We use shorter sentences to describe dramatic events.

Exercise 2

- Students work individually. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 D 2 A 3 B 4 C

Prepare

Exercise 1

- Read through the Writing tip with the students.
- Students underline the sequencing clauses in the text.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

After only a week ... / While they were coming down the mountain ... / After the accident ... / Afterwards, Simon continued down the mountain ... / As soon as he got into his sleeping bag ... / After that, he had used his arms ...

Exercise 2

- Students work individually. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- While we were crossing the desert, there was a sandstorm. / There was a sandstorm while we were crossing the desert.
- Our boat sank. Afterwards, we were rescued by a fishing boat.
- As soon as I walked into the jungle, I stood on a snake.
- After finding a cave, they sheltered from the storm.
- They found the river when they were walking through the jungle. / They were walking through the jungle when they found the river.
- We flew to Peru. After that we visited Lima.

Teaching Tip: Punctuation

Remind students to organize their ideas into sentences. Highlight the use of a capital letter for the first word of a sentence and a full stop at the end of the sentence.

Write

Exercise 1

- Give time for students to think of an event.

Exercise 2

- Students make notes on the answers to the questions.

Exercise 3

- Students read through the instructions. Make sure they understand what they are going to write.
- If the writing is done in class, circulate and monitor. If you notice common errors, write them on the board and ask the class to correct them.
- Ask students to check each other's writing. Has all the information been included? Are there any errors? After peer correction, students write a second draft and hand it in.

SAMPLE ANSWER

In 2007, I went with my family to visit my grandparents in a small village about thirty kilometres from where we live. We were driving back home again on the motorway when disaster struck.

It was raining hard and we were overtaking a bus. I was sitting in the back seat with my younger brother. My mother had given us her coat to cover our legs, because we were cold. Suddenly, the car started sliding on the road. My mother shouted to us to cover our heads while my father was trying to control the car. Finally, the car crossed over onto the other side of the motorway.

As soon as the car stopped, we got out and inspected the damage. All of the windows had broken, and there was broken glass in the pockets of my mother's coat. However, none of us had been injured.

We had been very lucky. There had been no cars coming while we were crossing the other side of the motorway and we had had my mother's coat to cover our heads. After our car had been repaired, we went to visit my grandparents again. This time it wasn't raining.

Dictionary Corner

Teaching Tip: Irregular plural forms

Explain to students that their dictionary tells them about the plural form of nouns. Irregular plurals appear in brackets with the symbol pl after the main entry. The pronunciation of the plural form is also included in the brackets.

Activity: Write these words on the board and ask students to write the plural form. Get them to look up the words to check their answers.

axis [pl. axes] ox [pl. oxen] person [pl. people] tomato [pl. tomatoes]

Exercise 1 Singular and plural crisis /'kraɪsɪs/ noun [C,U] (pl. crises /-sɪz/) a time of great danger or difficulty; the moment when things change and either improve or get worse: the crisis caused by the flood ◊ a friend you can rely on in times of crisis

- Focus on the task. Explain that students should look up the noun given in their dictionaries to find the irregular plural form.
- Focus on the dictionary entry for crisis and elicit the following information:
 - The blue key symbol indicates that crisis is an Oxford 3000 keyword.
 - crisis* is a noun.
 - The plural form of crisis is crises.
- Students work individually to look up the words and write the irregular plurals. Check the answers with the class.

ANSWERS

1 crises 2 criteria 3 zeroes 4 oases 5 phenomena
6 sheep 7 species 8 volcanoes

Exercise 2

- Focus on the task and explain that students should look at the table in exercise 1 to work out the rules.
- Students work individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

Exercise 3

analysis /ə'neɪlɪsɪs/ noun (pl. analyses /-sɪz/) 1 [C,U] the careful examination of the different parts or details of sth: Some samples of the water were sent to a laboratory for analysis. 2 [C] the result of a careful examination of sth: Your analysis of the situation is different from mine.

- Focus on the task. Explain that students should look up the noun given to find out if it is a singular or plural form.
- Focus on the dictionary entry for analysis and elicit the following information:
 - The blue key symbol indicates that analysis is an Oxford 3000 keyword.
 - analysis* is a noun.
 - The plural form of analysis is analyses.
 - analysis* is the singular form of the noun.
- Students continue working individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

- Look at the unit title and ask students: Which activities motivate you the most?
- Read the title of the reading page, Amazing achievements. Ask students: What amazing achievements can you think of?

Before Reading

- Students in pairs look at the photos and discuss the questions. Compare answers with the class.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Background Notes

The text is about three individuals who have overcome huge obstacles to be successful at what they do best. Oscar Pistorius was born in South Africa in 1986. As a young child his legs were removed below the knee and he learned to walk using prosthetic replacements. As well as winning gold medals at the Paralympics, he also runs against able-bodied professional athletes in sprint races. William Kamkwamba used bicycle parts, tree branches and materials from a scrap yard to build a windmill to provide electricity to power the electrical appliances in his house in Malawi. Since then he has built a solar-powered water pump to supply drinking water to his village and two more windmills. Amir Khan dropped out of school in the UK, but became the WBA welterweight champion at the age of twenty-two.

ReadExercise 1

- Students read the text quickly and answer the questions.

ANSWERS

1 Amir 2 William 3 Oscar 4 William 5 Oscar 6 Amir

Exercise 2  1.10

- Play the CD while students read the text a second time and choose the best answer. Check the answers with the class, asking for justification.

ANSWERS

1 c 2 a 3 c 4 d 5 c 6 a

Exercise 3

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check that they have understood by asking: How does a writer express facts in a text? [by giving evidence] How does a writer express an opinion? [by showing personal feelings]
- Students read the statements and decide if they are fact or opinion. Check the answers.

ANSWER

1 opinion 2 fact 3 fact 4 opinion

Optional Activity: Reading skills

Aim: To learn how to talk about what you have read.

Preparation: Write the following questions on the board.

What problem did he/she have?

What did he/she do to overcome the problem?

Why is he/she famous?

Divide students into three groups: A, B and C. Allocate Oscar Pistorius to Group A, William Kamkwamba to Group B and Amir Khan to Group C. Give time for students in pairs or groups of three to answer the questions. Tell students to close their books. Regroup students into ABC groups. First students A tell the group about Oscar Pistorius, then Students B talk about William Kamkwamba and finally Students C talk about Amir Khan. Finally, each group votes on the person they think has made the greatest achievement.

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Teaching Tip: Making lists

Focus on the first question. Write Oscar Pistorius, William Kamkwamba and Amir Khan on the board. Give students two minutes to write down reasons why they admire the three young people. Elicit ideas from students and write them on the board. Count up the reasons that students have mentioned to find the most admirable person.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

- William Kamkwamba, because he is more concerned about his village than himself.
- They have all overcome obstacles, so they show young people that they should never give up.
- determination, courage, self-belief
- I decide if a thing is worth doing, and if it is I try to do it well.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Past simple and past participle of regular verbs

Although the past simple and past participle forms of regular verbs are relatively easy, it is worth reminding students of a few anomalies, i.e.

- Regular verbs of one syllable ending in consonant-vowel-consonant, double the final consonant, e.g. stop – stopped – stopped.
- Regular verbs of two syllables ending in consonant-vowel-consonant, double the consonant if the stress is on the second syllable, e.g. admit – admitted – admitted.
- Regular verbs of two syllables ending in consonant-vowel-consonant do not double the final consonant if the stress is on the first syllable, e.g. shatter – shattered – shattered. (An exception to this rule is the verb travel: travel – travelled – travelled.)

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text to the definitions. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 hyperactive 2 shatter 3 background 4 all-round
5 fees 6 able-bodied 7 pump 8 compatriots
9 mainstream 10 impressive 11 overcoming
12 stood out 13 prosthetic 14 elite 15 transformed

- Give students more information about the words from the text and ask them to make notes in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks (see Workbook pages 58–69).

able-bodied is an adjective which describes people who do not have any physical disability.

all-round is an adjective which describes a person who is able to do many things well.

background is a noun which means the type of family and social class you come from.

compatriot is a noun which means a person who comes from the same country as you.

consciousness is a noun which means the state of being awake and knowing what is happening around you. The adjective is conscious and the negative adjective is unconscious.

elite is an adjective which describes something that is thought to be the best. The noun form is also elite.

fee is a noun which means the money you pay for professional advice or services from doctors, lawyers, schools, universities, etc. The plural form is fees.

hyperactive is an adjective which describes someone who has more energy than normal and is unable to keep still.

impressive is an adjective which describes something which causes a feeling of admiration and respect because of its size or quality, etc. The noun is impression and the adjective is impressible.

mainstream is a noun which means considered normal and used or accepted by most people. Mainstream is a singular noun.

overcome is an irregular verb which means to manage to control or defeat a problem. The past simple is overcame and the past participle is overcome.

prosthetic is an adjective which describes an artificial part of the body. The noun is prosthesis.

pump is a noun which means a machine that is used for forcing a gas or liquid in a particular direction. The verb is to pump.

shatter is a regular verb which means to destroy something completely. The third person singular form is shatters and the past simple is shattered. The adjective shattered means extremely tired.

stand out is a phrasal verb which means to be easily seen or noticed. The past simple and the past participle form is stood out. We say stand out from something.

transform is a regular verb which means to change something completely, especially in a way that improves it. The third person singular form is transforms and the past simple form is transformed. We say to transform somebody or to transform something.

Quick Test: Fire away

Divide the students into four teams. Read out the following gapped sentences to the class. Ask a student in the first team to raise his/her hand to complete the sentence. If they complete the sentence correctly, give two points to their team. If not, give the next team in line a chance and give them one point if they complete the sentence correctly. Read the next sentence to this team. The winner is the team with the most points.

We can't afford to stay at an ____ hotel. [elite]

You ____ from a crowd because you're so tall. [stand out]

How much is your lawyer's ____? [fee]

The window didn't ____ when the ball hit it. [shatter]

He's a good ____ athlete. [all-round]

He's always loud because he's ____. [hyperactive]

The library is a very ____ building. [impressive]

He's trying to ____ his disability. [overcome]

I need a ____ to blow up the wheels of my car. [pump]

He comes from a very privileged ____. [background]

The final is between an Italian and his ____. [compatriot]

I'm hoping my new job will ____ my life. [transform]

Optional Activity: Motivation

Aim: To talk about personal motivation.

Preparation: Write the following activities on the board:

do homework

go on holiday paint your room

cook a meal for friends go to university

get a job

Put students into pairs and get them to discuss how much the activities motivate them. Ask them to add activities to the list which are more motivating. Finally, ask students to tell the class about the activity their partner finds most motivating.

- Get students to cover the words and focus on the pictures. Elicit words they know and write them on the board.
- Students uncover the words and continue matching them to the pictures. They may use a dictionary if they wish. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 wheelchair 2 walking stick 3 bandage 4 crutches
5 plaster 6 plaster cast

Teaching Tip: Types of phrasal verbs

Remind students that there are three types of phrasal verbs.

- Type 1 are intransitive and inseparable, i.e. they take no object and the two parts of the verb always stay together, e.g. get up. Elicit more examples from students.
- Type 2 are transitive and separable, i.e. they take an object, which may come between the two parts of the verb or after the verb. When the object is a pronoun, it always comes between the two parts of the verb, e.g. put on: put on a jacket, put a jacket on, put it on. Elicit more examples from students.
- Type 3 are transitive and inseparable, i.e. they take an object which always comes after the verb; the two parts of the verb always stay together, e.g. look after: look after the children, look after them. Three-part phrasal verbs also belong to this category. Elicit more examples from students.

Students can find out how to use phrasal verbs by looking them up in their dictionaries. Type 1 phrasal verbs are listed with no object, e.g. get up. Type 2 phrasal verbs are listed with the abbreviations sth or sb between the two parts of the verb, e.g. take sth off. Type 3 phrasal verbs are listed with the abbreviations sth or sb after the verb, e.g. look after sb.

Optional Activity: Phrasal verbs

Aim: To find out how to use phrasal verbs.

Preparation: Give out dictionaries to students.

- Ask students to look up the phrasal verbs in exercise 3 to find out what type they are. [build on sth – type 3, fall through – type 1, keep up – type 1 (also possible keep up with sb / sth – type 3), lose out – type 1 (also possible lose out on sth / lose out to sb – type 3), pay off – type 1, pull sth off – type 2]
- Get students to write an example sentence using each phrasal verb.

Quick Test: What was I going to say?

Read out the first sentence and pretend you have forgotten the last word. Elicit the last word from students. Continue until students have guessed all the words.

I broke my arm, so I had to wear a [plaster cast].
She can't keep still because she's [hyperactive].
He wants to be the boss because he's very [ambitious].
We made lots of money because our investment [paid off].
They're disappointed because their plans [fell through].
She cut her finger, so she put on a [plaster].

Modals: advice, obligation and prohibition

Warm-up

- Ask students: What motivates you to do homework?

Explore

Exercise 1

- Students look at the photo. Ask: What is the boy doing? [his homework] What's his problem? [He isn't motivated.] Elicit ideas for how he could motivate herself.
- Get students to read the text and underline the advice on self-motivation. Elicit the advice and write it on the board. [list positive things you've done; have an objective; prepare a plan]
- Students discuss the question in pairs and then have a class discussion.

Teaching Tip: Infinitive with or without to?

Some students have problems in remembering which verb form follows modal verbs. Remind them that we use must and should with the infinitive of another verb whereas we use have to and ought to. Need is more complicated as we say need to in the affirmative and needn't or don't need to in the negative. When students make a mistake use the prompt: Verb form? and ask them to repeat the sentence correctly.

Exercise 2

- Read through the definitions in the chart with the students.
- Focus on the first modal verb have to and elicit the correct definition. [It's an obligation or necessity.]
- Students continue working individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

TAPESCRIPT

Interviewer Speaking in public is never easy, especially if you're young and inexperienced. So, I'm at West Way School in West London to find out what public speaking situations today's teenagers have to deal with. First, I spoke to the school football team captain, Joe Wilson.

Joe Wilson I have to motivate the team before each football game but unfortunately we lost our first three games. I tried to focus on the fact that although we were losing, we were getting better. I told the boys that I could see an improvement, and I was right! We've won all our games since then!

Interviewer Well done, Joe! Now, what about speaking in public to adults on the school council, including the headmaster? Sounds frightening, doesn't it? Let's listen to fifteen-year-old Masoud Khuda.

Masoud Khuda Yes, I was very nervous the first time I did it. There were about twenty adults there and I was the student spokesperson. Fortunately, I had prepared a short speech on some changes the students wanted to make to the break times. Well, after I had replied to a few questions from the headmaster, he agreed to the changes! The whole experience really gave me a lot of confidence.

Interviewer Perhaps Joe and Masoud would now like to become motivational speakers. Motivational speakers have been addressing audiences in the business world for a long time. However, a new kind of motivational speaker is emerging: teen speakers.

Steve Watts ... and it was then that I realized that if I wanted to stop the bullying, I'd have to do something about it. Nobody was going to do it for me.

Interviewer That was Steve Watts on stage at West Way School. But how did Steve become a public speaker?

Steve Watts Well, I got into public speaking as a result of being bullied. A gang of older kids at school used to pick on me. Naturally, I didn't tell anyone about it, but then one day at school assembly the headmaster started talking about bullying. Well, when he'd finished I just stood up and I told the whole school, that's 300 people, about my situation. I had everyone's attention and at the end I got an enormous round of applause. Since then I've been visiting schools and giving talks to motivate other victims to face the problem.

Interviewer As you can see, the voices of today's teenagers are making an important contribution to the lives of our schools.

Speak

Exercise 1

- Focus on the instructions. Brainstorm ideas with students and write two of them on the board.
- Discuss with students how far the school has dealt with these ideas, and how they could deal with them further.
- Students make notes on their speech. Tell them they must include the ideas on the board, and two more ideas of their own. Remind them to say how the students should help.

Students' own answers.

Exercise 2

- Students give their speeches to a partner. Monitor and help.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise making short speeches.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A I think our school should recycle scrap paper.

B Why?

A To save money and also to stop cutting down trees.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting their own ideas.

Speculating: present and past

Warm-up

- Ask students: Which English football teams do you know?

Explore

Exercise 1 1.12

- Play the CD once for students to listen, read and answer the question. Discuss the question with the class.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students. Check understanding by asking: Which modal verbs do we use for speculating? [must, could, may, might and can't]
- Focus on the first expression in blue in the dialogue: must have started. Ask: Past or present? [past]
- Focus on the table. Students continue completing the table with the modal verbs in the dialogue. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 must be 2 may be 3 might be 4 could be
5 can't be 6 must have started 7 might have scored 8 can't have scored

Teaching Tip: Pronunciation

Students sometimes find the weak pronunciation of have difficult here. Write the following phrases on the board:

must have scored might have won could have lost
may have finished can't have started

Say each phrase in turn and elicit from students the words that are stressed. Underline these words on the board.

[must have scored, might have won, could have lost, may have finished, can't have started]

Get students to practise the phrases in pairs, paying attention to intonation.

Exercise 1

- Focus on the example and establish why the answer is correct. [because we use might, may or could to speculate about something which is possible]
- Students continue completing the sentences individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 might be / may be / could be
2 must have been 3 can't be 4 may have been / might have been / could have been 5 must be 6 can't have been 7 may be / might be / could be 8 must have been

Exercise 2

- Read through the Look out! box with students. Check understanding by asking: Which modal verb don't we use for speculating? [can]
- Focus on the example and establish why must is the correct verb. [because we use must to speculate about something we are sure about]
- Students continue rewriting the sentences individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 I must have left my keys at home.
2 He might be a businessman.
3 He must have studied hard.
4 It might be Mike on the phone for you.
5 He must be French.
6 He can't have given me the money.

Exercise 3

- Focus on the photo and the example sentence. Elicit another sentence from the students, e.g. It might be a race.
- Students continue speculating about the picture individually or in pairs. Compare students' answers with the class.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

It must be in the desert.
It might be dangerous.
The driver could be a professional.
There may be spectators.
The other cars could be spectators'.
It must be fun!

Quick Test: Sentence transformation

Write the following sentences on the board. Give students time to rewrite them using modal verbs for speculating.

It's impossible that you've lost your phone again.

[You can't have lost your phone again.]

I think it's cold outside.

[It might / may / could be cold outside.]

I'm certain Jack is out. [Jack must be out.]

I think they have bought a new car.

[They might / may / could have bought a new car.]

I'm certain we've missed the train.

[We must have missed the train.]

An anecdote

Target Language

Clauses with present participles: walking home from school leaving the kitchen

Warm-up

- Focus on the photo and the title of the anecdote. Ask students to predict what the anecdote is about.

Read

Exercise 1

- Students read the anecdote and check their prediction.
- They discuss the answer to the question in pairs.

ANSWER

It made the writer appreciate how hard his grandfather's life had been. It made him glad he didn't have to go out to work.

- Focus on the anecdote and elicit the following information:
 - The anecdote has a title.
 - It is organized into four paragraphs.
 - The first paragraph explains the situation.
 - The second paragraph explains what the problem was.
 - The third paragraph explains what advice was given.
 - The fourth paragraph explains what effect the advice had.
 - The style is formal, so we avoid short forms.

Exercise 2

- Students work individually. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 He's in a very bad mood.
- 2 He brightens up.
- 3 He gives the impression that he's being sent off to prison.
- 4 angrily
- 5 Sample answer: Since that day, he has seen his school work in a different light. He only has to think of his grandfather's life as a child to find all the motivation he needs to do his work as well as he can.

Prepare

- Read through the Writing tip with the students. Check understanding by asking: When can we use present participles? [when the subjects of both clauses refer to the same person or thing]
- Students work individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 Disagreeing with team tactics, I had to speak to the captain.
- 2 Swimming in the sea, he hurt his foot.
- 3 can't be changed
- 4 Training hard, I got back on the team.
- 5 Living in London for six months, we had a chance to practise our English.
- 6 can't be changed
- 7 Finishing the race, he quickly drank a bottle of water.
- 8 Cooking lunch, I talked to my friend.

Teaching Tip: Using direct speech in an anecdote

We use inverted commas in an anecdote to show the words that somebody said. We use a comma before the direct speech.

'I've got to do my homework,' I said, 'And it's going to take me a long time.'

Write

Exercises 1 and 2

- Students work individually. Monitor and help.

Exercise 3

- Students read through the instructions. Make sure they understand what they are going to write.
- If the writing is done in class, circulate and monitor. If you notice common errors, write them on the board and ask the class to correct them.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Slow down, you move too fast!

Waiting at the bus stop the other day, I started thinking about all the time that I was wasting. I had so much to do, yet there I was, sitting on the bench, doing absolutely nothing. I felt myself getting more and more stressed.

The main problem was that I didn't know the times of the buses, so I had no idea how long I was going to have to wait. I had a long essay to write once I got home and I really wanted to make a start on it.

When the bus arrived, I ran to get on it. 'I don't know why you're in such a hurry,' the driver said. 'I'm not going anywhere for another ten minutes.' He went on to explain that I shouldn't feel stressed. I should relax and take the time to think.

Thinking on the way home about what he'd said, I decided he was right. From that day on I've been a lot more relaxed and I've realized you get more done when you're relaxed than you do when you're stressed.

Dictionary Corner

Teaching Tip: Finding words quickly

Explain to students that dictionaries have some features that help them find a word quickly and easily. They should look at the guide letters on the edge of the pages to find the letter they need. Then they can look at the running heads at the top of the pages to check whether the word they want is on that page.

Activity: Students tick the words below that they think appear on the pages that start with commotion and end with competitive. Then they look on pages 146–147 of the Oxford Students' Dictionary to check.

computer	<input type="checkbox"/>	committee	<input type="checkbox"/> concentrate	<input type="checkbox"/>	compare	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> company	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>	complicated	<input type="checkbox"/>

Exercise 1 Nouns and verbs advice ^{W0} /əd'vaɪs/ noun [U] an opinion that you give sb about what they should do: She took her doctor's advice and ate more healthily. ◊ Let me give you some advice ...

advise ^{W0} /əd'vaɪz/ verb 1 [I,T] ~ sb (to do sth); ~ (sb) (against sth/against doing sth); ~ (sb) on sth to tell sb what you think they should do: I would strongly advise you to take the job. ◊ They advised us not to travel on a Friday. ◊ The newspaper article advised against eating too much meat. ◊ He did what the doctor advised. ◊ He advises the Government on economic affairs. ➔ note at recommend 2 [T] (formal) ~ sb (of sth) to officially tell sb sth; to inform sb

- Students look up the words advice and advise in their dictionary.
- Focus on the dictionary entries and elicit the following information:
 - advice* and advise are both Oxford 3000 keywords.
 - advice* is a noun and advise is a verb.
 - advise* means to tell somebody what you think they should do in a particular situation, whereas advice means an opinion you give someone about what they should do.
 - We can say advise sb to do sth.
- Focus on the example in the table. Explain that students should look up the words in the box to find out if they are nouns or verbs. Then, they should write them in the correct column.
- Students look up the words individually. Check the answers.

- Students look up analysis in their dictionary.
- Focus on the dictionary entry and elicit the following information:
 - analysis* is an Oxford 3000 keyword.
 - The plural form is analyses.
 - It means the careful examination of the different parts or details of something.
 - We can say send sth to a laboratory for analysis.
- Focus on the example sentence and explain that students should look up the words in the box and complete the dictionary definitions.
- Students look up the words individually. Check the answers.

This unit includes

Vocabulary: friendship • time expressions • phrasal verbs • -ed / -ing adjectives • idioms: heart • types of relationships

Grammar: comparative and superlative adjectives and adverbs • first and second conditional • I wish • question tags

Skills: talking about relationships and friendship • making conversations

Writing: formal and informal emails of apology

Workbook pages 26–33

Reading PAGES 28–29Warm-up

- Look at the unit title and ask students in pairs to prepare a definition of the word friendship. Compare the answers as the class.
- Read the title of the reading page, Special friendships. Ask students: What makes a friendship special?

Before Reading

- Students answer the questions in pairs before comparing answers with the class.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Background Notes

The dictionary definition of friendship is a relationship between friends. The Oxford Advanced Learner's Dictionary defines a true friend as one who shows respect and support in a way that does not change, even in different situations.

ReadExercise 1

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check understanding by asking: What can make it easier to understand the text? [being aware of the type of text and the information you expect to find in it]
- Students look through the text quickly and answer the question.

ANSWER

- b (The most important thing I learnt that day is never to judge someone by what they look like.)
- c (... often other people can't think beyond their own obligations and personal concerns.)
- a (They are the people who are always there for you.)

Reading skills

Aim: To learn how to put events in chronological order.

Preparation: Write the following sentences on the board.

He learnt not to judge people by their appearance. [6]

Jason and Rob became good friends. [5]

He saw Rob playing basketball. [3]

Jason read a survey. [1]

He realized that Rob was a true friend. [7]

He started chatting to Rob in the gym. [4]

He asked himself who he would contact in an emergency. [2]

Students in pairs read the sentences and number them in chronological order.

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Teaching Tip: Teamwork

Focus on question 3. Get a large piece of card and write the title on it: Our concerns and obligations. Stick the card on the board. Ask each student in turn to come to the front and write a concern or obligation on the card. If they can't think of one, the other students can help. Afterwards, display the poster your class has made on the wall.

ANSWERS

Students' own answers.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Learning idioms

Write up some gapped sentences on the board for students to complete with a personal example of the idiom, e.g.

I talk to ___ when I need a shoulder to cry on.

The subject of ___ is very close to my heart.

I have a lot in common with ___.

My ___ is always on the go.

Get students to write their example sentences in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks (see Workbook pages 58–69).

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text with the definitions. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 sauntering 2 genuine 3 resounding 4 in common
5 glimpse 6 wheelchair 7 otherwise 8 concerns
9 a shoulder to cry on 10 treat 11 close to my heart
12 interrupt 13 obligations 14 judge 15 on the go

- Give students more information about the words from the text and ask them to make notes in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks.

a shoulder to cry on is an idiom which is used to describe a person who listens to your problems and understands how you feel.

close to my heart is an idiom which is used to describe somebody or something which has a lot of importance and interest for somebody.

concern is a noun which means something that causes you to worry.

genuine is an adjective which describes something that is real or true.

glimpse is a countable noun which means a very quick and not complete view of somebody or something.
We say to catch a glimpse of sth.

in common is an expression which means to share something with somebody else. We say to have sth in common with sb.

interrupt is a regular verb which means to say something that makes somebody stop what they are saying. The third person form is interrupts and the past simple form is interrupted. The noun from interrupt is interruption.

judge is a regular verb which means to form an opinion about somebody based on the information you have. The third person form is judges and the past simple form is judged. The noun from judge is judgement.

obligation is a noun which means something that you have to do because it is your duty. The verb from obligation is oblige.

on the go is an expression which means very active or busy.

otherwise is an adverb which means if not. It is used for stating what will happen if you do not do something.

resounding is an adjective which describes something that is very loud or definite. It is only used before another noun.

saunter is a regular verb which means to walk without hurrying. The third person form is saunters and the past simple form is sauntered.

treat is a regular verb which means to act or behave towards somebody in a particular way. The third person form is treats and the past simple form is treated. The noun from treat is treatment.

wheelchair is a countable noun which means a chair with large wheels that a person who cannot walk can move or be pushed about in.

Exercise 2

- Students find the words in the text and read the sentences which contain them.
- Write the following sentences on the board, or dictate them. Students complete the sentences.
 - They didn't ___ the issue as being very important.* [regard]
 - I know I'll never visit all the countries in the world in my ___.* [lifetime]
 - My sister is very ___ and she never puts herself before other people.* [unselfish]
 - A software company has recently carried out a ___ into online customer service.* [survey]
 - She can't understand. ___, she's only two.* [After all]
 - We all ___ him for being such a good footballer.* [admire]
 - We had a ___ yesterday because the bathroom flooded.* [crisis]
 - We're having an exam on Monday, so I can't think ___ that.* [beyond]

Quick test: Synonym race

Explain that you are going to say some words and students have to write down a synonym from Vocabulary exercises 1 and 2.

walk slowly [saunter] important to me [close to my heart]

behave towards [treat]

share something [in common] stop someone speaking [interrupt]

duty [obligation]

worry [concern]

if not [otherwise]

quick look [glimpse]

loud [resounding]

real [genuine]

busy [on the go]

Put students into pairs to compare their answers. Then they try to remember the original clues that you gave. Check the answers. Pairs get one point for the correct synonym and an extra point for the correct clue. The winning pair has the most points.

Optional Activity: A true friend

Aim: To talk about when students met a true friend.

Preparation: Write these questions on the board:

Who is your true friend?

When did you meet?

Where did you meet?

What were you doing when you met?

What was your first impression of them?

How long have you been friends?

What do you do when you're together?

How often do you see each other?

Divide students into pairs. Student A tells Student B about their true friend by answering the questions on the board. Then swap. You could ask a few students to tell the class about their partner to round off the activity.

Target Vocabulary

Is there such a thing as a true friend?: a shoulder to cry on close to my heart concern genuine glimpse in common interrupt judge obligation on the go otherwise resounding saunter treat wheelchair

Three-part phrasal verbs: come up with cut down on fall out with get away with get on with look down on look up to put up with

-ed / -ing adjectives: amused, amusing annoyed, annoying depressed, depressing entertained, entertaining exhausted, exhausting fascinated, fascinating frightened, frightening satisfied, satisfying

Activate

- Focus on the words in the box. Review their meaning by asking a few questions, e.g. What word can we use when someone forms an opinion about another person before meeting them? [judge] What do we call a thing for people who can't walk? [a wheelchair]
- Students complete the sentences. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 interrupt 2 judge 3 treat 4 on the go 5 wheelchair
6 concerns 7 obligations 8 will saunter 9 a shoulder to cry on 10 glimpse 11 in common 12 resounding 13 close to my heart 14 Otherwise 15 genuine

Extend

Exercise 1 Three-part phrasal verbs

- Read through the Look out! box with students. Check understanding by asking: Can you separate the words of a three-part phrasal verb? [No] Elicit the meaning of the phrasal verbs in the box. [run out of – to finish; look forward to – to wait for something with pleasure]
- Focus on the example and establish that students have to complete the phrasal verb and match it to its definition.
- Students work individually or in pairs to complete the task. They may use a dictionary if they wish. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 get on with, b 2 fall out with, f 3 get away with, c
4 cut down on, h 5 put up with, g 6 look down on, a
7 come up with, d 8 look up to, e

Exercise 2

- Focus on the example. Remind students that they may have to change the form of the verb to complete the sentence.
- Students work individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 falls out with 2 looks up to 3 came / has come up with 4 get on with 5 cut down on 6 look down on 7 got away with 8 put up with

Teaching Tip: Pronunciation of -ed / -ing adjectives

Pronunciation of these adjectives can be quite tricky. Get students to underline the stress in the adjectives in Extend exercise 3. Check the answers. Then model and drill the correct word stress before they do the activity.

Exercise 3 -ed / -ing adjectives

- Read through the Look out! box with students. Check understanding by asking: Which ending says how people feel? [-ed] What does the -ing ending describe? [the people or things that cause the feeling]
- Focus on the example and ask: Why is 'entertaining' the correct answer? [Because it describes the thing that causes the feeling, i.e. the football match.]
- Students continue choosing the correct word individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 entertaining 2 satisfying 3 fascinated 4 frightening
5 exhausted 6 amused 7 depressing 8 annoyed

Optional Activity: -ed adjectives

Aim: To practise -ed adjectives.

Preparation: Write twenty -ed adjectives on cards.

Divide students into two teams. Tell them they are going to act out feelings for their team to guess.

Give the first student from each team a card and ask them to act out the feeling in front of their team.

Once their team has guessed the feeling the second student comes to the front. Continue until there are no more cards.

Quick Test: Right or wrong

Divide the class into three teams. Explain that you are going to read out sentences and they have to decide if the sentences are right or wrong. If the sentence is wrong, they have to correct it. They get two points for a correct answer, but if they are wrong, the sentence is passed to the next team for one bonus point.

You fall in with people in an argument. [fall out with]

A person who listens is an arm to cry on. [a shoulder]

Jack was satisfied with his exam results. [correct]

We look forward to people we admire. [look up to]

The experience was quite frightened. [frightening]

Busy people are always on the do. [on the go]

She can't put up with the noise any longer. [correct]

Some people get on with being lazy. [get away with]

The athletes were exhausting after the race. [exhausted]

Friends have a lot of things in mind. [in common]

I'm going to cut down on sweets. [correct]

Important things are close to your head. [close to your heart]

You came in with a brilliant idea. [came up with]

This book is very depressing. [correct]

His stories are always very entertained. [entertaining]

Exercise 1

- Students look at the photo. Ask: Who can you see? [a group of friends] What are they doing? [chatting and laughing]
- Focus on the first sentence and elicit the correct answers. [faster, more hectic] Students continue working individually.

Exercise 2 1.15

- Students discuss the question in groups.

ANSWERS

- 1 faster 2 more hectic 3 more isolated
4 more difficult 5 more limited 6 more effective
7 easier 8 simplest 9 most sensible

Teaching Tip: Two-syllable adjectives

Some two-syllable adjectives behave like short adjectives, e.g. quiet, clever, simple, narrow. Some two-syllable adjectives behave like long adjectives, e.g. tiring, boring, careful and useful. All two-syllable adjectives ending in -y behave like short adjectives, i.e. pretty > prettier > prettiest.

Exercise 3

- Read the first Learn this! box and check understanding by asking: What is the comparative of 'slow'? [more slowly] What is the comparative of 'fast'? [faster] What is the opposite of 'more' and 'most'? [less and least] Can we use 'less' and 'least' with adjectives and adverbs? [yes]
- Give students time to match the examples with the explanations. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 less stressful 2 least dangerous 3 more quickly
4 harder 5 the best

- Read through the second Learn this! box and check understanding by asking: What can we make comparisons with? [simple nouns and clauses] Which tense do we often use the superlative with? [present perfect]

TAPESCRIPT

Paul Last year I had to take a plane to Paris so I had arranged for my friend Andy to take me to the airport. That morning, I got up early and waited for him to arrive. An hour later I decided to call him because it was getting quite late. Eventually he answered the phone but he said he couldn't drop me off because he had a football match. In the end I took a taxi but I missed my flight anyway.

Kate When I was younger I had a good friend at school called Jessica. We got on really well and we used to hang out together after school and at weekends. But the moment we left school, we suddenly stopped seeing each other. First I tried calling her, but she was always out and she never returned my calls. After a few weeks, I went round to her house, but she said she was busy. Finally, we lost touch completely.

Elma Two years ago I had a big fight with my best friend Laila. It was over something very small – I can't even remember what we disagreed about. Anyway, we never made up and I really regret that now. One day when I got to school all the girls were smiling and waving to Laila. Later I found out that Laila was moving to a different city, but we weren't on speaking terms so she hadn't told me. Laila and her family left and I never saw her again. Next time I fall out with someone, I will definitely make more effort to restore the friendship.

Ben In my district there is a group of older boys who always seem to be causing trouble. We usually avoid them as they are aggressive and often get in trouble with the police. I used to spend all my time with my friend Mark, so I didn't have anything to do with them. But one day I saw Mark talking to them and they were all looking at me. Suddenly I knew that our friendship was over. After that he started spending all his time with the older boys and he never spoke to me again.

Exercise 2

- Students work in pairs to write a sentence.

ANSWERS

Ben's friend Mark started hanging out with older boys and they stopped talking to each other.

Paul's friend let him down.

Elma regrets not making up with Laila after an argument.

Kate lost touch with her school friend Jessica.

Exercise 3 1.16

- Play the CD again for students to complete the table.

ANSWERS

Ben: one day, suddenly, after that

Paul: last year, that morning, an hour later, eventually, in the end

Elma: two years ago, one day, later, next time

Kate: the moment we left school, suddenly, first, after a few weeks, finally

Speak

- Read through the Speaking tip with students and check understanding by asking: What should you do before speaking? [make a note of words and phrases you are going to need]
- Give students time to make notes about their story.
- Student A tells Students B their story and then swap. Monitor and make a note of any common errors. Correct the mistakes with the whole class on the board.
- Ask a few students to tell the class their partner's story.

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise speaking about a friend who let you down.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A What was your friend's name?

B Joanna.

A What did she do?

B She stopped speaking to me.

A How did you feel?

B I was very disappointed.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting their own ideas.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students and elicit the correct answers.

ANSWERS

1 present 2 will 3 past 4 would

- Give students time to find the examples of the first and second conditional in the dialogue.

First conditional: 2 examples (If I go, I'll call you; I'll come if I have enough time)

Second conditional: 3 examples (If I had any money ...; If I was rich ...; my maths would improve if you helped me)

ANSWER

There are three examples of the second conditional:

If I was rich, I'd spend every winter on a tropical island.

It wouldn't be boring if you were with me.

If you didn't buy so many clothes, you'd have enough money for holidays.

Teaching Tip: Second conditional of be

In more formal second conditional sentences, we use were instead of was for the first and third person singular, e.g. If I were sure ..., If she were available, .... We always use were in the construction If I were you. We use this construction for giving advice, e.g. If I were you, I'd apologize to her.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Dear Debbie,
I'm ever so sorry, but I forgot to invite you to the picnic. I feel awful because you didn't know anything about it. Now you'll think I didn't want you to come and it's all my fault.
I meant to come and find you at lunchtime on Friday to tell you about the picnic. I got distracted because our biology teacher told us we had an exam this week and I wanted to make sure I had all the notes.
Anyway, I'm going out now to get you a book to say sorry. I'll give it to you when I see you at school tomorrow.
I don't know what to say except that I'm really, really sorry.

Dictionary Corner

Teaching Tip: Idioms

Idioms often have a meaning which is very different from the sum of their parts. Write these phrases on the board and ask students to guess the meaning.

call it a day

jump on the bandwagon

give sb the push

stick up for sb

Get them to check their answers in a dictionary. Remind them that they should look up the first meaningful word of the idiom, unless it is a very common word. The dictionary uses the symbol IDM to indicate idiomatic expressions. An arrow shows if the idiom also appears in the entry of another word.

Exercise 1 Idioms: heart

IDM after your own heart (used about people) similar to yourself or of the type you like best at heart really; in fact: My father seems strict but he's a very kind man at heart.

- Students look up heart in their dictionary and look at the list of idioms indicated by the IDM symbol.
- Focus on the entry for at heart and elicit the following information:
 - at heart* is an idiom.
 - at heart* means really or in fact.
 - an example of at heart is My father seems strict but he's a very kind man at heart.
- Focus on the example sentence. Explain that students should look up the idioms related to heart and find the right meaning to complete the sentences.
- Students work individually. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 at heart 2 heart of gold 3 by heart 4 change of heart
5 bottom of my heart 6 to heart 7 heart and soul

Exercise 2

Background Notes

Sulaiman Al-Rajhi (1920–present) founded the first Islamic bank in Saudi Arabia with his brother, Saleh (1921–2011). Since then he has become one of the richest men in the world and an important and generous philanthropist. In 2012 he was awarded the King Faisal International Prize for Service to Islam by Prince Salman. Among the reasons for the award were his work to help the poor, his promotion of Islam by building mosques and distributing copies of the Quran and his involvement in the world's largest Islamic bank.

SUGGESTED ANSWERS

- He became one of the richest men in the world by being a successful businessman.
- Because he believes that it is a duty for all Muslims to help others.
- Bill Gates (the founder of the software company Microsoft) has donated a lot of his fortune to charity.

Exercise 4

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check understanding by asking: Is it necessary to read every word in a text when you are looking for specific information? [No]
- Students in pairs find the dates and numbers in the text and explain their significance. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- Percy Ross was born in 1916.
- In 1969 he sold his plastic bag company.
- He gave $50,000 to fifty Vietnamese refugees.
- He bought bikes for 1,050 poor children.
- He received about 40,000 requests for money every month.
- He gave $16,500 in silver coins to children at a parade.
- In 1999 he published his last newspaper column.
- People estimate he gave away around $30 million.

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Parts of speech

Some nouns in English have the same verb form. Write these sentences on the board and get students to rewrite them using a verb.

They sold the car for a high price at an auction.

[They auctioned the car for a high price.]

There was a boom in the textile industry in the 1850s.

[The textile industry boomed in the 1850s.]

He had no regrets about selling his house.

[He didn't regret selling his house.]

He was a radio show host for twenty years.

[He hosted a radio show for twenty years.]

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text with the definitions. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 settle 2 talent 3 vast 4 entire 5 regrets
6 auction 7 passed away 8 boomed 9 On the contrary
10 goal 11 cheques 12 entrepreneur 13 donating
14 hosted 15 venture

- Give students more information about the words from the text and ask them to make notes in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks.

auction is a noun which means a public sale at which items are sold to the person who offers the most money.

To auction is also a verb.

boom is a regular verb which means to grow rapidly and become successful. The third person form is booms and the past simple form is boomed. Boom is also a noun.

cheque is a countable noun which means a piece of paper printed by a bank that you sign and use to pay for things.

donate is a regular verb which means to give money or goods to an organization. We say donate sth to sb. The noun from donate is donation.

entire is an adjective used only before a noun which means including everything, everyone or every part.

entrepreneur is a countable noun which means a person who makes money by starting or running businesses.

goal is a countable noun which means your purpose or aim.

host is a countable noun which means a person who introduces a television or radio show and talks to the guests.

To host is also a verb.

on the contrary is an idiom which means the opposite is true.

pass away is a phrasal verb used as a polite way of saying to die. Pass away is intransitive and inseparable.

regret is a countable noun which means a feeling of sadness about something that cannot now be changed.

To regret is also a verb.

settle is a regular verb which means to go and live permanently in a new area. The third person form is settles and the past simple form is settled.

talent is a countable noun which means a natural skill or ability.

vast is an adjective that describes something which is extremely big.

venture is a countable noun which means a project which is new and possibly dangerous, because you cannot be sure that it will succeed.

Exercise 2

- Students find the words in the text and read the sentences which contain them.
- Write the following sentences on the board, or dictate them. Students complete the sentences.

- 1 Those factories ____ cars. [manufacture]
- 2 He left the country as a ____. [refugee]
- 3 That journalist writes an interesting ____ once a week. [newspaper column]
- 4 Most people would like to ____ and never work again. [make a fortune]
- 5 I see my grandparents ____ – usually every weekend. [on a regular basis]
- 6 There was no bread, so we had to ____ toast at breakfast. [do without]
- 7 Our gardener is an ____. I think he comes from India. [immigrant]
- 8 We took all our old and useless furniture to the ____. [junk dealer]

Quick Test: Short definitions

Choose a good student. Explain that you are going to give short definitions for some words and the student has to say the word. Ask another student to time you and say stop after one minute. Read out these definitions.

It's a public sale. [auction]

You can pay with this. [cheque]

It's everything. [entire]

It's the opposite. [on the contrary]

It's your aim. [goal]

It's a new project. [venture]

It's a sad feeling. [regret]

It's a natural ability. [talent]

It's to die. [pass away]

It's extremely big. [vast]

Give students five minutes in pairs to write down short definitions. Then students work in groups of four. One pair reads out the definitions and the other pair guesses the word. Time the activity and find out which pair guessed the most words. Students swap and repeat.

Optional Activity: Interview

Aim: To role play an interview with Percy Ross.

Preparation: Tell students to imagine they are going to interview Percy Ross. Give them five minutes in pairs to write down ten questions they would like to ask him.

Student A is a journalist and Student B is Percy Ross.

Student A interviews Student B using the questions they have written. Then swap. Monitor and help.

He went over ...

Focus on the first sentence. Elicit different ways of completing it, e.g. your shoes, your trousers. Write students' ideas on the board.

Focus on the second sentence. Tell students they have to complete the sentence in as many different ways as possible in one minute. Stop them after a minute and ask the student with the most endings to read them out. Continue with the rest of the sentences.

Vocabulary Notebooks

Remind students to make notes on new vocabulary in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks.

have something done

Warm-up

- Ask students: If you could choose, where would you like to live? Elicit answers from a few students.

Explore

Exercise 1

- Students look at the photo. Ask: What can you see? [an apartment] The two photos are of the same apartment. What's the difference between them? [One is before and one after renovation]
- Students read the text and answer the question.

ANSWER

They paid someone else to do it.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box and check understanding by asking: What structure can you use when someone does something for you? [have + object + past participle]
- Students find examples of have something done in the text.

Teaching Tip: Referring to body parts

Some languages use definite articles to refer to body parts, whereas in English we use possessive adjectives, e.g. I'm going to have my hair cut. He's just had his eyes tested. When students make a mistake, use the prompt Possessive adjective and ask them to repeat the sentence correctly.

Exercise 1 1.20

- Focus on the example and remind students to use the past simple of have something done to complete the dialogue. Students continue working individually.
- Play the CD for students to check their answers.

ANSWERS

- 1 had it painted 2 had some new curtains made
3 had everything delivered 4 had the shelves fitted
5 had it cleaned 6 had my laptop repaired

Exercise 2

- Students complete the sentences individually. Check the answers

ANSWERS

- 1 had his leg examined 2 haven't / have not had my eyes tested 3 do, have your hair cut 4 don't have their flat cleaned 5 had their house painted

Exercise 3

- Read through the Learn this! box with students and check understanding by asking: When do we use reflexive pronouns? [when the object of a verb is the same as the subject; to add emphasis]

- Students find an example of a reflexive pronoun in the dialogue in exercise 1 and answer the question.

ANSWERS

Did you bring all the furniture home yourself?

The reflexive pronoun is use 2.

Exercise 4

- Focus on the example and explain that students have to rewrite the first sentence with have something done and then write a negative sentence with a reflexive pronoun.
- Students work individually. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- She had her shopping done. She didn't do it herself.
- I had my air-conditioning installed. I didn't install it myself.
- We had our car washed. We didn't wash it ourselves.
- He had his teeth examined. He didn't examine them himself.
- I had my eyes tested. I didn't test them myself.
- They had their shoes cleaned. They didn't clean them themselves.

Quick Test: Error correction

Write the following sentences on the board. Give students time to find the mistakes and write them correctly.

He's having repaired his car.
I prefer to clean my flat me.
We usually have our shopping deliver.
He painted the room yourself.
Yesterday I had the hair cut.
Have you tested your eyes recently?

TAPESCRIPT

1 I've been saving up for ages for a new pair of trainers, but they're quite expensive and I haven't saved enough yet. My dad says he'll buy them on his credit card and I can pay him back when I've got enough. It's really kind of him but I don't like to borrow money from my family. In fact I really don't like being in debt to anyone. So, I guess I'll have to just keep saving until I've got enough.

2 The other day something really irritating happened. I was in a clothes shop in town and I saw this cool shirt in the sale. Luckily they had my size so I went up to the till to pay for it. I tried to use my debit card, but I couldn't remember my PIN. Anyway, it was £4.99 so I paid in cash. I gave the sales assistant a £10 note but he only gave me a penny change. I was so pleased with my bargain, that I didn't notice until I was on the bus home – by which time of course it was too late. It wouldn't have happened if I'd used my debit card.

3 I want to get a computer that's just come out. It's brilliant, but it's quite expensive. The problem is, I haven't got any money in my current account. I've just spent a lot of money on clothes. My dad reacted really badly when I told him what I wanted. He said I shouldn't waste money on a computer. 'I'll buy you books,' he said, 'but not a computer.'

4 I want to get my brother something nice. I haven't got much money now, but I get £4 a week pocket money. I'm paying £2 a week into my savings account. I should be able to afford something nice for him soon, like a new book.

5 I bought a pair of jeans last weekend. They were £20, but as they were in the sale I got £5 off, which was fortunate because I'd only drawn out £20 from the cash machine! I took them home, but when I tried them on they didn't fit. The sales assistant didn't give me a receipt and I forgot to ask for one, so I can't take them back. It's a real pain – I've got a pair of jeans that don't fit me and I'm £15 poorer.

Exercise 1

- Students discuss the questions in pairs. Monitor and make a note of any common errors. Correct any mistakes on the board with the whole class at the end of the activity.

Exercise 2

- Students in pairs discuss the meaning of the quotations.
- Focus on the speech bubbles. Ask a few students to continue the sentences.
- Students in pairs discuss whether they agree or disagree with the sentences. Monitor and help.

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise speaking about money quotations.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A What do you think the first quotation means?

B It means that money won't make you happy.

A What do you think about that?

B I agree. Money won't make you happy because your health is more important. What do you think?

A I disagree. Money is very important because you need it to buy food.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting their own ideas.

Third conditional

Warm-up

- Ask students: What are the three most important things you should always take on holiday with you?

Explore

Exercise 1 1.22

- Focus on the photo and ask: Which city is it? [New York]
Explain that students are going to listen to a conversation between two brothers who have just landed in New York.
- Play the CD for students to complete the dialogue.
- Play the CD again for students to check their answers.

ANSWERS

1 would 2 wouldn't 3 hadn't 4 known 5 hadn't

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students and check understanding by asking: Which verb forms are used in the third conditional? [if + past perfect, would have + past participle] When do we use the third conditional? [to talk about the imaginary result of things that did not happen] What feelings can the third conditional express? [criticism and regret] What happens when the 'if' clause is the second part of the sentence? [We omit the comma.] What does 'd mean? [had or would]
- Students find the examples in the dialogue.

ANSWERS

If I'd had more time in the airport, I'd have changed some money.
We wouldn't have arrived at the airport late if you hadn't made a mistake with the train times.
If I'd known that, I would have brought it.
I wouldn't have put it there if I hadn't wanted you to bring it!

Teaching Tip: Third conditional

Students are often confused as to where they should put the verb would in a third conditional sentence. Remind them that would never appears in the if clause. When they make a mistake, use the prompt Would? and ask them to repeat the sentence correctly.

A formal letter: asking for information

Target Language

Asking for information: I am writing to enquire about ...
 Could you please tell me whether ...?
 Do you know if ...?
 I would be grateful if you could also let me know ...
 Could you also tell me ...?
 I look forward to hearing from you.

Linking words: and as you know even finally so

Warm-up

- Ask students: Have you heard of camping? If the answer is No, explain what it is and show them the tent on page 42. Then ask: Would you like to go camping?

Read

- Students read the letter and answer the question.

ANSWERS

Simon needs to buy a tent and a sleeping bag.

- Focus on the letter and elicit the following information:
 - The letter is organized into five paragraphs.
 - The style of the letter is formal, so it contains full forms.
 - The letter finishes with the closing phrase I look forward to hearing from you.

Prepare

Exercise 1

- Students match the notes to the paragraphs in the letter. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

Paragraph 2: OK for wet and windy Scottish weather?

Paragraph 3: big enough for three with lots of luggage?

Paragraph 4: how long? and which colours?

Paragraph 5: sleeping bag?

Exercise 2

- Students discuss the questions in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

Simon starts with Dear Sir and finishes with Yours faithfully. If he knew the name of the person he was writing to, he would start with Dear Mr (surname) and finish with Yours sincerely.

Exercise 3

- Read through the Writing tip with students. Check understanding by asking: What should you give at the start of the letter? [your reason for writing it] How can you make questions more polite? [by using indirect questions]
- Students find the four indirect questions in the letter.

ANSWERS

... could you please tell me whether ... would be more suitable?

Do you know if the three-berth tents have plenty of storage space?

I would be grateful if you could also let me know ...

Finally, could you also tell me if you sell sleeping bags?

Teaching Tip: Linking words

Formal letters asking for information may include the following linkers: and, as you know, even, finally and so.

Activity: Write these sentences on the board and ask students to complete them with a suitable word.

*I am going with a friend ___ we are travelling by plane. [and] ___ it can be quite cold at that time of year. [As you know]
 The sun can be quite strong, ___ in September. [even]
 ___ I would like to know the frequency of the bus. [Finally]
 We will be driving, ___ we will need a parking space. [so]*

ANSWERS

- No, riding on rough terrain
- taking lots of luggage
- lights and locks

Exercise 2

- Students read through the instructions. Make sure they understand what they are going to write.
- If the writing is done in class, circulate and monitor.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Dear Sir,

I am writing to enquire about the range of bikes that I recently saw advertised in Let's Go Cycling magazine.

I am planning a cycling holiday this summer in the Lake District. As you know, the terrain there can be quite rough, so could you please tell me whether the Easyrider Touring range or the Adventurer range would be more suitable?

I am going for a whole month and so I am planning to take a lot of luggage. Do you know if it would be possible to fit panniers to the bikes?

I would be grateful if you could also let me know if the bikes are available with large frames, and how much the postage and packing is for bikes under £200.

Finally, could you also tell me if you sell lights and locks?

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours faithfully,

Adrian Simpson

Background Notes

This text is about the origin of farming, which began in the Middle East.

Before farming techniques had been developed, people lived as nomadic 'hunter-gatherers', finding food by hunting animals or gathering plants. After changes in climate caused food to grow more easily, people didn't have to travel such long distances to find it. This made it possible for people to begin cultivating their own plants and raising their own animals – the birth of farming.

This development led in turn to the development of societies based around particular places. From this followed the establishment of laws and systems of government. Crafts and early industries also developed.

The photographs on pages 44 and 45 show: A – an ancient farming technique; B – modern farm machinery; C – an irrigation canal, which is how farmers direct water towards their land; and D – the craft of carpet-weaving.

ReadExercise 1

- Students match the sentences (A–E) with the gaps (1–4). Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 E 2 B 3 A 4 D

Exercise 2  1.24

- Students read the text and answer the questions. Tell them to re-write the false sentences in their own words. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

- F (They had to look for food every day.)
- T

- T
- F (There was a rapid increase of population.)
- T
- F (Crafts and skills were developed because fewer people were needed to work in food production.)
- T

Optional Activity: Reading skills

Aim: To practise describing a text in your own words.

Preparation: Write the following questions on the board.

Before farming, how did people get their food?

Why did people build barriers, forts and castles?

How did the birth of farming lead to technological advances?

Ask the class to locate in the text the sentences which answer these questions. Check the answers. Then ask the students to close their books. In pairs, students work to write answers to the questions in their own words. Elicit answers from different groups and write good answers on the board. Don't correct the sentences at this point. Write more than one answer for each question, to show that there are different ways of saying the same thing. Finally, ask students to correct any mistakes in the sentences you have written.

Understanding Ideas

- Read through the Reading tip with students. Check understanding by asking: Should you repeat sentences from the text when you answer reading questions? [No] How should you answer them? [In your own words]
- Write the following sentence on the board: The birth of farming fundamentally changed the way we live. Elicit from the class ways of re-writing this sentence. (For example: People's lifestyles were completely changed by the development of farming techniques.)
- Students read the questions and write the answers in their own words.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Teaching Tip: Positives and negatives

Focus on question 3. Divide the board into two parts. Ask the students for good and bad changes in technology, and write their ideas on different sides of the board. When you have at least five examples on each side, ask the class to vote for the most negative and most positive changes. Rank the changes on the board in order of votes.

A possible follow-up activity includes a class debate, in which students argue for and against the motion that Technology has caused more bad than good changes in people's lives.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

- 1 Towns and villages developed because people didn't have to travel as much for food; crafts were developed, which led to the invention of money; rules and laws were created because people lived together in smaller spaces.
- 2 Yes: because of farming, people developed new skills; after people stopped travelling to find their food, they built barriers and forts and lived safer lives.
No: some of the inventions which followed the birth of farming, such as money, do not always make people happy.
- 3 Good: communications technology such as the telephone and the internet.
Bad: the development of nuclear weapons, which has led to many deaths.
- 4 We would know less about other countries and cultures.
Also, we would not have access to products and technologies which are developed in other countries.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Syllable stress

Remind students that all words in English which have more than one syllable have stress or emphasis on a particular syllable. In most English words this is the first syllable, but that is not always true.

Read the words in the vocabulary box on page 46 out loud to the students and ask them to identify the number of syllables in each word. Then read them again and ask students to identify which syllable is stressed in each word.

Write the words on the board and underline the stressed syllable in each word. Ask students to read the words out loud together, making sure to emphasise the correct syllable.

Finally ask students to copy the words into their notebooks and underline the stressed syllable in each word.

1 syllable: crafts trade wheat

2 syllables: basis rapid space race supplies

3 syllables: advances barriers pottery

4 syllables: consequences elaborate reliable temporary

5 syllables: fundamentally

ANSWERS

- 1 pottery 2 supplies 3 temporary 4 trade
5 space race 6 elaborate 7 wheat 8 advances
9 consequences 10 rapid 11 barriers 12 fundamentally

Exercise 1 Word formation

- Focus on the example with students. Write the three forms of inspire on the board and elicit from students where the stress is on each word (inspire, inspiration, inspiring).
- Remind students of the difference between verbs, nouns and adjectives, and elicit a few examples of each (verb: expresses an action, event or state, e.g. run, happen, be; noun: refers to a person, place or thing, e.g. man, school, chair; adjective: describes a noun, e.g. red, happy, small).
- Students work individually or in pairs to complete the table. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

inspiring creative invention explorer contributor participation scientific idealistic governing

Teaching Tip: Predicting word forms

Encourage students to predict the word forms they will need before completing a gap-fill exercise like Exercise 2. Tell students to read the sentences and make a note of what type of word – noun, verb, adjective etc. – they think they will need to complete the sentence. Then ask them to complete the sentences. This is a useful skill to learn which will help students to eliminate errors when it comes to exam time.

Exercise 2

- Students complete the sentences individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 idealistic 2 creative 3 contribution 4 participate
5 scientific 6 invented 7 inspire 8 explore
9 government

Teaching Tip: Looking up idioms

Explain to students that to find an idiom in the dictionary they may need to look at the main entry for the first or the last word in the idiom. In the Oxford Student's Dictionary idioms are listed after the main entry in a separate section marked IDM.

Exercise 3 Idioms: craft

- Elicit any idioms about crafts that students may know in their own language.
- Focus on the example and ask students to check which word the idiom is found under in the dictionary [stone].
- Students continue matching the idioms and the definitions individually or in pairs. Check the answers with the class.

ANSWERS

1 d 2 g 3 f 4 e 5 a 6 b 7 c

Exercise 4

- Students complete the sentences individually or in pairs. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

1 pave the way for 2 hammered home 3 wove a tale
4 build bridges 5 carved in stone 6 made it
7 read, like a book

Quick Test: Get it right

Write these sentences on the board and give students five minutes to correct them.

The walls were covered with a rapid design. [an elaborate]
When they reached the bottom of the mountain they had very few pottery left to eat. [supplies]
I'm certain he won't forget – he's very temporary. [reliable]
International craft is very important for the relationships between countries. [trade]
They placed advances between the two groups of supporters at the football match. [barriers]
The bad weather this year means farmers will produce less consequences. [wheat]
If I get bad results in my exams it could have serious basis for my future. [consequences]
This classroom is rapid while our new school is being built. [temporary]
The thief stole some valuable wheat from the museum. [pottery]
A good relationship between teachers and students is the trade of this school's success. [basis]

Participle clauses

Warm-up

- Focus students on the photo in exercise 1. Ask What do you think that is?

Explore

Exercise 1

- Students read the text quickly and answer the question.

ANSWERS

showing: present powered: present built: past programmed: past considered: past combining: present allowing: present designed: past displaying: present

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with students and check understanding by asking: Why do we use participle clauses? [to give more information about a noun] What type of clauses do they replace? [defining and non-defining relative clauses] Which participles replace active verbs? [present participles] Which participles replace passive verbs? [past participles]
- Focus on the three examples in the box and ask students to read them out.

ANSWERS

The non-defining clause is the last one: The final episode ...

Exercise 3

- Students do the task individually or in pairs.

ANSWERS

showing: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining clause powered: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining clause built: 1 No 2 A defining relative clause programmed: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining relative clause considered: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining relative clause combining: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining relative clause allowing: 1 No 2 A defining relative clause designed: 1 Yes 2 A non-defining relative clause displaying: 1 No 2 A defining relative clause

Exercise 4

- Point out that the first paragraph ends at go where you want.
- Ask students to underline the four participle clauses in the first paragraph.
- Students work individually or in pairs to re-write the clauses.

ANSWERS

This photograph, which shows an electric car, ...
These cars, which are powered by the sun's energy ...
... drive on streets which were built ...
... the cars, which are programmed by computers, ...

Teaching Tip: Present participles

Remind students of the spelling rules for present participles. Normally we add -ing to the infinitive of the verb, e.g. wear – wearing. If the infinitive ends in one vowel and one consonant, we double the consonant and add -ing, e.g. stop – stopping. If the infinitive ends in -e, we omit the -e and add -ing, e.g. write – writing. If the infinitive ends in -ie, we change to -y and add -ing, e.g. lie – lying.

- 1 Explorer 1 Wait a minute. Stand back a bit. There's something behind here.
Explorer 2 What is it?
Explorer 1 I'm not sure. It's made of stone. It looks like part of a building.
Explorer 2 Pull those branches back a bit. Look, there are some carvings on the stone.
Explorer 1 Gosh, so there are. But there's no record of any ancient cities here.
Explorer 2 I know. Let's get the camera out. We need to take a lot of photographs.
Explorer 1 OK. I'll go and get it. You keep looking.
2 Scientist So, then we need to pour that liquid in here.
Student OK. Here goes.
Scientist Slowly, slowly.
Student Oh, it's changing colour!
Scientist Yes, that's the reaction with the acid.
Student Do I shake it now?
Scientist Yes, just a little. That's enough. Now put this liquid in that test tube and put it in the fridge.
Student OK. And what do I do with this?

Scientist Pour it into this dish. Slowly.

Student Oh, look at that. What's happening?

- 3 Chef Can you pass me the cumin, please?

Assistant Certainly, here you are. It smells wonderful, doesn't it?

Chef It isn't finished yet! I need a little cream now.

Assistant OK, how much?

Chef Stop! I said a LITTLE.

Assistant Sorry. Was that too much?

Chef Let me taste it. No, it's OK. Now put a few finely chopped onions in the sauce.

Assistant Certainly... (sniff, sniff)

Chef What's wrong?

Assistant Nothing. They're making me cry, that's all!

- 4 Producer Now, who is the guest for this week's programme?

Assistant It's the children's writer, Jacqueline Wilson.

Producer Good. She'll come on the show at three o'clock.

Assistant How long will the interview last?

Producer 20 minutes. After that we will do that report on the environment.

Assistant OK. Do we need an interviewer for that?

Producer No, it'll be a piece to camera by the reporter. This week it's Rob Jenkins.

Assistant Great. He's an excellent reporter - I loved his last documentary on fast food.

- 5 Inventor Now, let's switch it on.

Friend Sorry! I dropped it. Oh dear.

Inventor Don't worry. You can't break it! All right, let's try it again. Select an option and press the start button on the top.

Write

Exercises 1 and 2

- Students read the essay question and write a plan. They then write their essay.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Parks, squares and public gardens are just some of the urban spaces that everybody can enjoy in the city. Every city has these open areas and sometimes we take them for granted. But do they really make our lives better? Is it important to preserve these spaces, or could we use them to build more important buildings such as apartment blocks?

Whether we visit them once a week or once a month, we all feel the benefit of urban spaces. They allow us to relax, for a few moments or a few hours, and escape the busy city life all around us. Urban spaces help us to fight against the stress which living in the city can cause.

On the other hand, parts of the city with no good urban spaces can be depressing. Living surrounded by grey concrete, we can forget the simple pleasure that plants and trees can bring us. People begin to feel gloomy if they do not have access to parks. To sum up, while it is hard to say why parks and other urban spaces make us feel better, there is no doubt that they improve our lives. Local governments and city planners must work together to preserve these spaces, for the benefit of the whole city population.

Teaching Tip: Finding synonyms and antonyms in the dictionary

Explain the terms synonym (a word that has the same or nearly the same meaning as another word, e.g. large is a synonym of big) and antonym (a word that means the opposite of another word, e.g. small is an antonym of big). Explain that in an Oxford Student's Dictionary the letters SYN indicate a synonym and OPP indicate an opposite or antonym.

Exercise 1

day-to-day adj. [only before noun] 1 planning for only one day at a time: I have organized the cleaning on a day-to-day basis, until our usual cleaner returns. 2 involving the usual events or tasks of each day: She has been looking after the day-to-day running of the school.

- Explain to students how compound adjectives are listed in their dictionaries. Sometimes they are listed under the entry for the first word, while sometimes they have their own entry.
- Students look up the entry for day-to-day in their dictionaries.
- Elicit or explain the following:
 - day-to-day* is an adjective
 - day-to-day* is used to describe the usual events or tasks of each day.
 - it can also mean planning for one day at a time, and can be used with the word basis
- Focus on the example sentence and show how the use of the adjective matches the dictionary definition number 2.

- Students continue working individually. Circulate and help students to find the compound adjectives in their dictionaries. Check the answers with the class.

- Read the title of the reading page, Nothing ventured, nothing gained. Check understanding by asking students to translate the title into Arabic. Ask: When was the last time you tried to do something difficult?

Before Reading

- Students look at the photos and discuss the questions in pairs. Compare the answers with the class.

Background Notes

The text is about three teenage entrepreneurs.

Fraser Doherty, from Scotland, is the CEO of his own company SuperJam, which produces pure fruit jams. He is also director of the Scottish charity The SuperJam Tea Parties, which runs tea parties for elderly people who live alone or in care homes.

Sean Belnick, from the USA, founded his company Bizchair in 2001, aged 14. Bizchair sells furniture over the internet from www.bizchair.com. Today it is a multi-million dollar company.

Suhas Gopinath, from India, is the CEO and Chairman of his own multinational IT company, Global Inc. Gopinath was announced as a 'Young Global Leader' for 2008–2009 by the World Economic Forum.

Optional Activity: Reading skills

Aim: To practise summarizing a text.

Preparation: Write the following questions on the board.

Where is he from?

What was his business idea?

What did he launch?

What does his company do?

What is his situation today?

Divide the class into three groups. Allocate one of the entrepreneurs from the text to each group. Ask them to answer the questions from memory about their person and then read the relevant section of the text to check their answers. Then ask them to write a short paragraph about their entrepreneur including all the answers from the questions. Ask a few individual students to read out their summaries. Correct any mistakes with the class.

Understanding Ideas

- Students read the questions and think of possible answers.
- Students discuss their answers in groups.
- Bring the class together to compare answers.

Teaching Tip: Brainstorming ideas

Focus on question 3 and elicit possible answers from students. Write all of their ideas on the board. Take a vote on which quality students think is the most important. Write the number of votes on the board and highlight the class answer.

SAMPLE ANSWERS

1 Fraser: a kitchen, saucepans, fruit, jam jars

Sean: a computer, internet access, chairs

Suhas: computers, software, an office, phones

2 Positive: new ideas, more energy, earn your own money, get a head start on your peers

Negative: less experience, no financial support, having to combine work with studies

3 Intelligence, initiative, ambition, determination, imagination, creativity, etc.

Vocabulary

Teaching Tip: Pronunciation of past simple -ed ending

Remind students that there are three possible pronunciations of the past simple -ed ending: /t/, /d/ or /ɪd/.

- When the infinitive ends with a voiceless consonant, we pronounce -ed as /t/, e.g. launched.
- When the infinitive ends with a voiced consonant, we pronounce -ed as /d/, e.g. aimed.
- When the infinitive ends with /t/ or /d/, we pronounce -ed as /ɪd/, e.g. recruited.

Always get students to make a note of the pronunciation of the past simple form of the verbs they find difficult in the Vocabulary Notebook section of their Workbooks (see Workbook pages 58–69).

Exercise 1

- Students match the highlighted words in the text to the definitions. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

How much ____ do you pay every month for this apartment? [rent]

They ____ in their activity despite the recession. [persisted]

He put forward his ____ at the meeting. [proposition]

My colleague plays an important ____ in our office. [role]

Optional Activity: Setting up a business

Aim: To talk about setting up a business.

Preparation: Write the following questions on the board.

What product are you going to launch?

Who is it aimed at?

What equipment will you need?

Where are you going to get the capital?

Which staff will you have to recruit?

What role are you going to play in the company?

Divide students into groups of three or four. Tell them they are going to set up their own company. Give them time to discuss the questions in groups and come up with some ideas. Get each group to tell the class their idea. Have a class vote on which group has the best idea.

Teaching Tip: Translating phrasal verbs

Translation is a useful tool when presenting students with new phrasal verbs. However, it should always be supplemented by other techniques, e.g. drawing pictures or writing example sentences in L2. Encourage students to learn phrasal verbs with or without their objects, e.g. branch out into sth, not just branch out. You could get students to translate the completed sentences in exercise 2 into L1 and then get them to translate them back again into English. They should compare their answers to the original sentences to see if they remember the phrasal verbs correctly.

Exercise 3 Websites

- Focus on the definitions and cover the words on the left.
- Read through the definitions with students and elicit any words they know.
- Students uncover the words and match them to the definitions. They may use a dictionary if they wish. Check the answers.

Optional Activity: Websites

Aim: to practise the vocabulary of websites.

Preparation: Set up an email account with www.gmail.com or a similar English-language email website before the class. If you have the resources, project a computer screen onto your whiteboard or projector screen, so that the class can see it.

Go to the website you have chosen. Go through the steps of entering your username and password, signing in etc. Elicit the English words from this exercise as you do so.

Alternatively, if the students each have access to computers, dictate instructions to them in English, using this vocabulary to help them set up an email account.

Quick Test: Synonyms race

Read out the following definitions in turn and give the students five seconds to write down each word.

to recruit staff [take on] to not accept an offer [turn down] to press the button on your computer's mouse [click] to make progress [get ahead] to enter a website using your username and password [sign in] to think of a plan [come up with]

to find new staff [recruit]

a local office [branch]

continue doing something [persist]

the tasks you must do every day [day-to-day] to reduce something [cut back] desire to do something [eagerness]

TAPESCRIPT

Andy So, I want to start my own business during the summer holidays.

Harry What? Are you joking?

Andy No! I went to a talk at school about teenage businesses. The presenter said that there were quite a few teenagers that ran small companies from home.

Harry What sort of companies?

Andy He mentioned web-based companies, people who produced home-made food, designed T-shirts, taught ...

Harry Teaching?

Andy Yes, teaching. He told us about a sixteen-year-old girl who taught basic computer skills to retired women.

Harry That's a good idea.

Andy Yes it is. He also explained what we had to do before starting. For example, you have to do some market research first.

Harry Why?

Andy Well, you need to know if there is a market for your service or product. If nobody is interested, then it won't be very profitable!

Harry Of course! And if there are lots of rivals, it will be difficult to break into the market.

Andy Exactly! We have to study the competition and maybe look for a niche market and offer a specialized service or product.

Harry It sounds interesting, but what about the start-up? You need money to start a business!

Andy Right. That's why he talked about businesses with low overheads. He also said we had to make a business plan to see what supplies we would need and what our expenses would be.

Harry So what are you planning?

Andy A news website for our city.

Harry What's that?

Andy It's a website that tells people what has happened recently in the city.

Harry But doesn't the local newspaper do that?

Andy Well, it'll be much more detailed than the newspaper and I can update it constantly. And I'll make a profit by selling advertising space on the page to businesses in town.

Harry It sounds like a great idea. Have you told your parents?

Andy That's the first thing I did! They advised us at the talk that we should get our parents' permission for anything we wanted to do. They also said that if they liked the idea they might help us with funding!

Harry Well, I'm impressed. Maybe you'd like to employ me!

Andy Let me get started first!

Optional Activity: Dialogue

Aim: To practise talking about running a business.

Preparation: Write the following dialogue on the board.

A What product shall we make?

B Let's make sandwiches.

A What will we need?

B We'll need some knives, some bread and some cheese.

A Who are we aiming at?

B We're aiming at students at our school.

A How much will it cost us?

B The price of the ingredients in the sandwiches.

A Who shall we ask to help us?

B Our parents.

Students practise the dialogue in pairs. Then rub out the underlined words. Students practise the dialogue again, inserting their own ideas.

Exercise 2

- Read through the Learn this! box with the students. Elicit example sentences with the verbs from individual students.
- Focus on the first verb in the text: explained. Elicit the structure this verb follows. [Structure 3: verb + that + clause]
- Students continue working individually or in pairs to match the verbs to the structures. Check the answers.

ANSWERS

he explained that: 3 verb + that + clause

he encouraged us to do: 2 verb + object + infinitive

he suggested writing: 5 verb + -ing

he recommended reading: 5 verb + -ing

he assured us that: 4 verb + object + that + clause

he insisted on finding: 7 verb + preposition + -ing

he claimed that: 3 verb + that + clause

Teaching Tip: Reporting verbs

Students often make mistakes with reporting verbs because they are used with different structures in their own language. When students make a mistake, use the prompt: Structure? and ask them to repeat the sentence correctly.

SAMPLE ANSWER

Future studies

Introduction

The aim of this report is to analyze what students in our class plan to study when they leave school. The information was obtained from personal interviews with thirty students.

Which courses?

Nine students said they would like to study engineering, while six said they wanted to study science. Six students would like to study medicine and six of them were unsure what they would study. Finally, three students said that they did not want to go to university.

What job?

In general, eighteen of the students were sure what job they want to do in the future. Nine said they wanted to be engineers while six said they were aiming to be doctors. Of the six students studying science, three of them said they would like to work as chemists. Regarding the rest of the students, they were not sure which path their careers would take.

Conclusion

On the whole, I believe that students in our class would prefer to study sciences at university as they feel that these subjects will lead to more job opportunities.

Dictionary Corner

Teaching Tip: Choosing the right meaning

Encourage students to look through an entry carefully to find the meaning they are looking for, especially in longer entries. In the Oxford Student's Dictionary, the definitions are numbered to show different meanings. The different meanings are arranged in the order of how common they are, so the first definition explains the most common use of the word. Some entries include a subject label to show which subject area a word belongs to.

Activity: Students look up the following nouns and find out the number of meanings they have and what subjects they are related to.

article (n) [5: Media, Law, Language] branch (n) [5: Biology, Business] capital (n) [5: Geography, Politics, Business, Architecture]

paper (n) [5: Education]

work (n) [7: Media, Literature]

3 Read the text and choose the correct answers.

Home education is completely legal throughout the UK, and currently around 87,000 children between the ages of five and sixteen are being home educated. Some British parents home educate their children from the start, but others take their children out of school because of bullying. In this case, parents need to notify the school in writing, but they only need permission from the education department if the child has any special educational needs. Home educators do not have to be trained teachers, nor do they have to follow the national curriculum, but they do have the obligation of providing their children with an education appropriate for their age and ability. Many maintain that their children are happier, more sociable and more independent than those who spend large amounts of time in school. On the downside, home educators have to make a great sacrifice in terms of time and money. There are no government funds available for home education.

- Parents in the UK ... educate their children at home.
a aren't supposed to b are allowed to c can't
- Nearly 90,000 ... children are being taught at home.
a primary school b secondary school c school age
- Parents of children with special needs have to ... before removing their children from school.
a get special permission b ask the headmaster
c see a doctor
- Children who learn at home must ...
a follow a set syllabus. b have qualified teachers.
c receive an education.

Born Survivor

One of the most popular programmes on television at the moment is a series called Born Survivor. In each episode, the presenter Bear Grylls, a survival expert, is dropped by helicopter into an uninhabited region in the world and is left to find a way back to civilization. He usually has to spend the night in the area, so he builds some form of overnight shelter. He often comes across dangerous animals, including snakes and tarantulas. His comments on these creatures often include the words gross or disgusting. Born Survivor has been criticized for staging many of Bear's stunts and faking some of the scenes. These accusations may be valid, but one thing that remains unquestionable is the bravery of the presenter himself. After breaking his back in a parachuting accident in 1996, Bear made a full recovery and eighteen months later went on to fulfil his childhood dream of climbing Mount Everest.

My Left Foot

Irish author and poet, Christy Brown, was born with cerebral palsy, a medical condition that made him almost completely paralyzed. The only part of his body that he could move was his left foot, and doctors diagnosed him as being mentally disabled. Christy disproved this theory at the age of five when he took a piece of chalk between his toes and wrote the answer to his sister's maths problem on her slate. From then on, his mother, who had never believed the doctors, taught Christy to read and write. During his teenage years, Christy spent most of his time reading until he made friends with someone called Robert Collis. Collis arranged therapy for Christy, which helped his muscle coordination and his speech. He also helped Christy write his autobiography My Left Foot. Christy went on to write two more novels and three volumes of poetry. He died in September 1981 at the age of 49.

Message in a bottle

Forty years ago, eight-year-old Sandra Morris was on a cruise ship travelling home to the USA from a holiday in Europe. During her journey, she threw an empty bottle containing a note over the side of the ship. Three months later, eight-year-old Rosalind Hearse was walking on a beach with her headmaster father when she spotted Sandra's bottle in the sand. The two girls started writing to each other straight away, and have been in touch ever since. Yesterday the pair, both now forty-eight, visited the spot at Morfa beach near Margam, South Wales, where Rosalind found the message. Rosalind says, 'Our friendship grew through our letters as we shared amazingly parallel lives. We each have two children, a boy and girl, and our eldest children were born just ten days apart.' The pair's children have also become firm friends after sharing a trip together.

- The pair were ... years old when their friendship started.
 a forty b eight c forty-eight
- Sandra had visited countries like ... during her holiday.

Money – who needs it?

Twenty-eight-year-old economics graduate Mark Boyle managed an organic food shop before he decided to try and live without cash for a year. He got himself a caravan and parked it on an organic farm where he was volunteering. Without electricity he had to find wood for heating. He used a small stove for cooking outside and solar power for running his mobile phone and laptop. He obtained food in one of four different ways: growing his own, gathering wild fruit and vegetables, exchanging products with friends and, by far the most successful method, using other people's waste. On his first day he found enough food to prepare a three-course meal for 150 people. To get around he had a bike, so the fifty-four-kilometre commute to the city centre substituted his gym subscription. What did Boyle learn from the experiment? That friendship, not money, is real security.

Einstein was an ⁹_____ – he believed that science could make the world a better place. Today, not only scientists but politicians and business people are ¹⁰_____ by his ideas.

Marks: ____/10

Reading

3 Read the text and choose the correct answers.

Coming up with new ideas

Creative people with new ideas often don't think logically and sometimes contradict themselves. When Einstein explained his theory of relativity, he said that he just ignored all the accepted formulas of the time. Akio Morita, the chairman of Sony for 48 years, said that Sony's policy was 'doing what others did not'. In 1947 Western Electric said that there was no commercial use for the 'semi-conductor'. But Morita didn't agree and by 1955 Sony had built the world's first radio. The Institute of Chartered Accountants insists its members work according to certain criteria. But perhaps this prevents free thinking? This is necessary for creativity. The engineer responsible for the 'Post-it note' said, 'If I knew what I was doing, it would not be research'. And Wittgenstein, the mathematician, said, 'If people never did silly things, nothing intelligent would happen.'

- People who are thinkers don't always ... a organise their ideas. b work hard.
c enjoy thinking.
- Einstein didn't pay attention to ...
a the law. b the ideas of other mathematicians.
c the first ideas he had.
- Akio Morita ...
a disagreed with Western Electric.
b believed Western Electric.
c collaborated with Western Electric.
- The Institute of Chartered Accountants believes in ... a free-thinking. b following certain rules.

Junior Apprentice

Sympathizing with someone

How dreadful!

What a nightmare!

What a disaster!

How awful!

What a pity!

What bad luck!

Offering congratulations

Congratulations!

Well done!

That's great news!

I'm really pleased for you.

I'm thrilled for you.

You must be delighted.

Giving a presentation

In my view ...

I believe / I don't believe ...

Furthermore ...

Moreover ...

All in all ...

To sum up ...

Asking for information: at the museum

I wonder if you could help me?

May I ask ...

Can you tell me ... ?

Is it possible ...

One last question ...

Making a point

As far as I'm concerned ...

I reckon ...

I can't deny that ...

It's true that ...

I would still say that ...

Having said that, I still think ...

Expressing opinions

How do you feel about ...

I'm absolutely convinced that ...

There's no doubt in my mind that ...

I believe very strongly that ...

Let's not forget that ...

One in five people think that ...

Two out of nine people say that ...

Half of the population believes that ...

Starting a conversation

How long have you been coming here?

How often do you have matches?

How about you?

What about you?

So do I.

I don't either.

Me neither.

Me too.

Talking about pros and cons

The good thing about it is ...

Another advantage is ...

The first drawback is ...

That's an interesting question.

I've never really thought about it ...

Talking about mobile phones

Are you on contract or pay as you go?

How long is the contract for?

How many free minutes have you got?

I've got unlimited text messages.
