In order to keep healthy, we need to (play / exercise / hide) both our mind and body. It's easy to think of ways to exercise our body, but what about our mind?

Research (show / shows / showing) that if we (keep / stay / bring) our minds healthy there are many benefits: we usually have more (energy / biology / ecology) and we can use this in the activities we are doing; we are more focused so we can concentrate (good / better / best) on a task; we are more alert so we can respond more appropriately (for / from / to) a situation; we are less stressed, so we can learn better.

If we have a healthy mind, we feel good about (yourself / themselves / ourselves). We (shout / call / scream) this mental well-being. Being positive and feeling happy is part of well-being. If we are positive, the people (over / under / around) us are more likely to feel positive too.

There are many ways to improve our mental health and well-being. Here are just a few. Which ones do you think would be the best for your well-being? Add your own ideas.

Most people know yoga as a kind of exercise which 1. (wants, aims, targets) at developing strength and flexibility. To practice yoga, you learn a series of 2. (postures, pastures, pestures), where you put your body into different positions. The correct breathing is also important. 3. (Moreover, Although, However), yoga is really about more than just exercise. In 2014, the Prime Minister of India, Narendra Modi, asked the United Nations to create an International Day of Yoga, saying that yoga 'is not about exercise but to 4. (discover, discovering, discovered) the sense of oneness with yourself, the world and nature'. He felt that yoga 5. (could, could not, could have) just help people to be healthier but also help connect people to each other and to nature. The United Nations agreed, and International Yoga Day is now celebrated 6. (in, around, on) 21 June.

The history of yoga 7. (went, goes, had gone) back at least 5,000 years, and some people claim it is nearer 10,000 years ago. It 8. (was, has, were) first developed in Northern India and at this stage was a spiritual 9. (also, as well as, additionally) a physical form of exercise, connected with both Hinduism and Buddhism. In the late 19th and early 20th centuries, yoga 10. (was introduced, had introduced, introduced) to the Western world when Swami Vivekananda travelled to the United States to talk about yoga at a 11. (consequence, conference, congruence) in Chicago in 1893. Others followed in the 1920s and 1930s, and by the 1960s yoga 12. (become, has become, had become) a very popular form of exercise in the United States and in Europe. Most people who practice yoga today do not do it for spiritual reasons.

Nowadays, young people (am – is – are) no longer looking for employment only in (traditional – culture – weird) workplaces like banks or big organizations. Today's young (entrepreneurs – workers – doctors) are getting involved in (companies – organizations – start-ups) because these (allow – do – make) them more freedom to be (creative – creating – create) and make their ideas come to life. They can also exploit social media to promote their businesses and make their own (decisions – opinions – thinks) about their professional future.

KinTrans – Mohamed Elwazer founded KinTrans in 2013. His goal was to change the way we (connect – communicate – transport) and in particular help people who use (sing – sign – singing) language to communicate more easily with those around them. His device offers a sign language translation (software – machine – hardware), which essentially changes sign language into a voice translation. KinTrans is useful not only for everyday communication but is also important in the business world for colleagues and clients who have hearing impairments.

UAE (culture – past – new) is full of fascinating stories, crafts and traditions. (Honesty – Happiness – Hospitality) is a very important tradition in Emirati culture. The way Emiratis (speak – laugh – greet) each other stems from the religious and cultural make-up of the Gulf region. Long, genuinely warm greetings with handshakes, embraces and generous praise can be expected for male-to-male and female-to-female greetings.

(Majlis – school – house) is an Arabic word for a meeting place. The traditional Majlis was a tented meeting place where businessmen used to meet regularly. The UAE also has many (new – innovative – traditional) games, although some of them are not played any more. An example is Al Boom, which was a (popular – old – new) game where children used to build wooden toy boats and then compete against each other in the sea.

They used to play this game very often. On special (places – view – occasions), such as Eid and for bridal showers, henna is used to decorate women's hands, feet and hair. During Eid holidays, families gather in their (new – old – borrow) clothes, usually starting with a visit to the grandparents' house. Older family members give the children traditional Eid money – known as (charity – Eidiya – give money away) in Arabic.

Playing the Game

Patrick put the game controller down and turned on the television. He clicked through the channels and (cry, hurry, saw) nothing interesting. He couldn't believe it, (more, but, name) he was bored with his games (and, no, hunt) television.

The voices and laughter from (pie, thank, upstairs) drifted down. The rest of the (family, ladder, above) was playing a board game. He (landed, thought, bottle) the game was silly, so he (said, mail, thing) he didn't want to play. Instead, (their, have, he) went down the basement by himself (enough, step, to) play video games.

Taking a deep (hall, breath, baby), he decided he would go upstairs (to, for, toast) see what they were doing. Maybe (yet, the, fan) game wasn't as silly as he (thought, shouted, lunch).

When he reached the dining room, (bowl, everybody, red) stopped for a moment. Then Aunt (pencil, Lydia, while) pulled an empty chair to her (edge, make, side) and said, "Over here, Patrick. We (want, drive, slow) you on our team."

Before long, (clown, Patrick, tomorrow) understood why everyone was laughing. The (game, money, teach) was challenging and fun. He loved (for, paint, the) way everyone teased one another, and (he, their, bone) felt proud when he answered a (radio, question, drove) right and put his team ahead.

"(Stone, Way, Patrick), you are actually pretty good at (this, when, candle) game. Have you ever played it (under, before, mean)?" asked his father.

Blushing a little, (Patrick, clothes, play) admitted he had played it a (loud, few, air) times at school, but it was (near, join, never) this much fun. His aunt gave (cake, him, scare) a hug and said, "Well, we (don't, using, bell) care if you played before. We're (rocky, track, happy) you are on our team."
