READING

Read the passage and answer the questions.

Bison: Yesterday and Today

The bison, or buffalo, is the largest land animal in North America. A grown male bison stands about 6 feet high. It is about 12 1/2 feet long. It weighs between 1,600 and 2,000 pounds. A bison is easy to recognize. It has a hump on its shoulders and curved horns on its head.

Long ago, bison wandered freely on the American plains. In 1850, there were about 20 million bison in North America. A large herd of bison looked like a black cloud moving across the plains. The earth shook when the bison started to run.

For many years, Native Americans hunted bison. They used the bison for many things. They used the meat for food. They used the bones for making tools. Hides were made into clothing and tepees.

During that time, there were many bison. Later, new settlers began to hunt bison. They hunted mostly for sport and for the hides. Because of too much hunting, the number of bison dropped. Soon, the bison were almost all gone.

Today, there are few bison left in North America. They live in protected places where people take care of them. We can only imagine what the American plains looked like when bison wandered freely.
