Their journey began when Zayed, whose father was a scientist, read an article about the harmful effects of poisonous chemicals on ecosystems. 1-.....

2- .....

Question 1: (bonus 2 marks)

Continue the story by writing at least two more sentences.

Zayed asked his father for more information about the bad impact of humans on the environment. His father gave him some ideas about the harm which people do, and what he should do to help it.

Question 2: (bonus 3 marks)

Why are the sentences you have written the best sentences to continue the story? Use the information in the paragraph to support your answer.

I think my sentences are the best follow up that I could easily conclude from the given paragraph. For example, the narrator has shown that Zayed was interested in reading about the environment. Since his father was a scientist, it is quite logical to try to give his son some ideas about how to help the environment.

Question 3: (bonus Plan 5 marks)

Write a plan for the rest of the story

Including the information about:

- What did Zayed do to help the environment?
- What did Zayed's family do to help animals?

- How were Zayed and his family a good example?

The beginning of the story:

- What did Zayed do to help the environment?
- Zayed was interested in organic waste.
- He started to change waste food into rich soil.
- He reduced the amount of waste.

The middle of the story:

- Zayed's family were a good example.
- They could create a better world.
- He hoped that they could inspire other people.

Question 4: (25 marks)

4- Using your plan and the sentences you wrote, write the rest of the story.

Include the information about:

- What did Zayed do to help the environment?
- What did Zayed's family do to help animals?
- How were Zayed and his family a good example?

Write at least 200 words.

Zayed was enthusiastic to address the issue of organic waste. He started a composting system in his backyard, transforming food waste into nutrient-rich soil. His efforts reduced waste and created a sustainable source of nourishment for their garden. He was sympathetic and wanted to make a difference, even if it was small.

Zayed's family were also concerned about the declining species populations. They helped some local conservation organizations and actively participated in efforts to protect endangered animals. In order to preserve habitats and guarantee the survival of many species, they helped to rescue a lot of animals. Zayed's family were also interested in agriculture. They recognized the problems of genetically modified crops and decided to explore alternative farming methods. Embracing organic and non-toxic practices, they created a picturesque farm where fruits and vegetables were planted without the use of harmful chemicals.

Zayed and his family stood as a good example of individuals who understood the importance of living in harmony with nature. Through their determined actions, they could create a better world for future generations. Their commitment to the environment and scientific research was unwavering. We hope we can inspire others to join us on our path of sustainable living," commented Zayed.
